

Department of Philosophy Assistant Professor in the History of Philosophy

The University of Waterloo, Department Of Philosophy is accepting applications for a tenure track position in the History of Philosophy at the rank of Assistant Professor. The Department is especially interested in candidates whose research is in the history and philosophy of science, broadly construed (including technology and mathematics). The Department also has undergraduate teaching needs in ancient philosophy. The successful candidate will have a completed PhD in Philosophy by the time of appointment, some teaching experience, and evidence of an actively developing research program.

The position will commence on July 1, 2014. Duties include research, undergraduate and graduate teaching and graduate supervision, and service. Closing date for applications is Nov. 20, 2013.

Applications should be submitted through the University's Job Application System at <https://artsonline.uwaterloo.ca/OFAS/PHIL>. Applications should include a cover letter, research plan and teaching statement; a curriculum vitae; a writing sample; and three confidential letters of reference.

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority. The Department values equity and inclusivity. The University of Waterloo encourages applications from all qualified individuals, including women, members of visible minorities, native peoples and persons with disabilities.
