Political Science, Tenure-track Assistant Professor, International Relations

The Department of Political Science in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Waterloo is seeking an exceptional scholar and researcher for a tenure track position at the rank of Assistant Professor in the area of International Relations with an anticipated start date of July 1st, 2018.

The successful candidate must have a PhD in Political Science or an equivalent discipline. Evidence of an actively developing research program in a related area is required. Duties include research, teaching at the undergraduate and graduate level, and supervising graduate students at the masters and doctoral level. The successful applicant will be expected to contribute to teaching the required courses, including introductory courses, in the department's programs in International Relations and Global Governance and in its International Studies or International Trade minors.

The salary range for this position at the Assistant Professor rank is $80,000.00 to $100,000.00. Negotiations beyond this salary range will be considered for exceptionally qualified candidates.

The closing date for applications is August 31, 2017. Three letters of reference will be requested for applicants invited for an interview. Send curriculum vitae, cover letter, teaching and research statements, names of three referees and sample publication material to: Professor Anna Esselment, Chair, Department of Political Science, Faculty of Arts, University of Waterloo (c/o Marina Ivanova, Administrative Manager, Political Science, mvivanov@uwaterloo.ca).

The University of Waterloo respects, appreciates and encourages diversity. We welcome applications from all qualified individuals including women, members of visible minorities, Aboriginal peoples and persons with disabilities. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority.
