Department of Drama and Speech Communication

Two Definite Term Lecturers in Speech Communication

The Department of Drama and Speech Communication in the Faculty of Arts at the University of Waterloo invites applications for two three-year Definite Term Lecturer positions, with a start date of August 1, 2018. Based in a liberal arts faculty with high national and international standards, the Speech Communication program currently serves approximately 150 majors, 50 minors, and delivers core communication courses to four Faculties from across the University.

These positions involve teaching seven courses per academic year in the fall, winter, and spring terms (80% of the appointment); and various service and administrative responsibilities (20% of the appointment). It is anticipated that both Definite Term Lecturers will teach communication courses specifically designed for students outside of the Faculty of Arts, as well as courses within the Speech Communication program. Strong candidates will be able to integrate theory and practice in courses in one or more of the following areas: public speaking, interpersonal communication, and/or science and technical communication. A PhD in Communication Studies or a related field is expected. Demonstrated excellence in undergraduate teaching, a commitment to experiential learning, experience liaising with university faculty and staff, and familiarity with diverse groups of students will be assets. Re-appointment and subsequent conversion to Continuing Lecturer is a possibility for both positions.

The salary range for these lecturer positions is $65,000 - $95,000. Negotiations beyond this salary range may be considered for exceptionally qualified candidates.

The closing date for applications is March 15, 2018. Send letters of application, complete CV, evidence of teaching effectiveness, and three confidential letters of recommendation to:
