

References

Project title: The Military Project: Mapping Canada's World War Experience

Project team: Geoffrey Hayes, Heather Moran, and Eva Dodsworth

Bodenhamer, David J., Trevor M. Harris, and John Corrigan, "Deep Mapping and the Spatial Humanities", International Journal of Humanities and Arts Computing, Oct 2013, Vol. 7, No. 1-2 : pp. 170-175 (doi: 10.3366/ijhac.2013.0087)

Knowles, Anne Kelly (ed.) Placing History: How Maps, Spatial Data, and GIS are Changing Historical Scholarship. (Woodlands, California: Esri Press, 2008)

Mullen, Abby, Digital Mapping for Military Historians, (Blog, 2 April 2014)
(<http://canadianmilitaryhistory.ca/digital-mapping-for-military-historians/>)

Mullen, Abby, Digital Mapping for Military Historians, (Blog, 2 April 2014)
(<http://canadianmilitaryhistory.ca/digital-mapping-for-military-historians/>)

Polis Centre, University of Indiana, "Spatial Humanities," (<http://thepoliscenter.iupui.edu/index.php/spatial-humanities/deep-maps-and-spatial-narratives/>)

University of Waterloo, Geospatial Centre, "Waterloo Region Historical Interactive Map," (<http://www.lib.uwaterloo.ca/locations/umd/digital/historicmaps.html>)

White, Richard. "What is Spatial History?" Stanford University Spatial History Project, 1 February 2010, <http://www.stanford.edu/group/spatialhistory/cgi-bin/site/pub.php?id=29>.

"Deep Map": 100th Anniversary of the Second Battle of Ypres" Laurier Centre for Military, Strategic and Disarmament Studies, <http://canadianmilitaryhistory.ca/deep-map-100th-anniversary-of-the-second-battle-of-ypres/>