

References

Project Title: Teaching negotiation: Developing a Canadian negotiation simulation role-play

Project Team: Jason Thistlethwaite, Faculty of Environment, School of Environment, Enterprise and Development, Michael Wood, Assistant Professor, Faculty of Environment, School of Environment, Enterprise and Development, Angela Carter, Assistant Professor, Faculty of Arts, Political Science

Bazerman, Max, Jared Curhan, Don Moore, and Kathleen Valley. 2000. "Negotiation." Annual Review of Psychology 51: 279–314.

Crampton, Alexandra, and Melissa Manwaring. 2015. "Shaping the Context, Meaning, and Effectiveness of Negotiation Simulations: Teaching and Training Insights." Harvard, MA: Program on Negotiation: Harvard Law School.

Maufette-Leenders, L.A., Erskine J. A., & Leenders, M. R. (2005). Learning with Cases. 3rd ed. London, ON: Richard Ivey School of Business.

Susskind, L, & Corburn, J. (2000) Using Simulations to Teach Negotiation: Pedagogical Theory and Practice. Working Paper 99-1. Harvard, MA: Program on Negotiation at Harvard Law School.

Susskind, L, Mnookin, M., Rozdeiczer, L., & Fuller, B. (2005) "What We Have Learned About Teaching a Multiparty Negotiation." Negotiation Journal, July. doi:10.1111/j.0748-4526.2005.00071.x.