Attract visitors by creating the best dinosaur park! In Draftosaurus, you will have a set of dinosaurs in your hand and take turns rolling a dice to find out the rule for where dinosaurs can be placed (e.g., in a pen, on grassland). Everyone except the dice roller must follow this rule when placing a coloured dinosaur in one of their pens. You will try to place your dinosaurs in a way that gets you the most points depending on the pen into which you place your dinosaur and the rules it has. In a unique twist in this game, before the next player's turn to roll the dice, everyone has to pass their remaining dinosaurs to the player beside them. So your selection of dinosaurs changes on every turn and you may have to pay attention to what other players need and will receive from you on a turn when making your own selection! The game ends after 2 rounds of placing 6 dinosaurs. The player with the most points wins!
