Work together to help the gnomes find as many treasures as possible before time runs out! In Gnomes at Night, you will have to communicate with each other to move a magnetic gnome through different levels of vertical mazes of obstacles that become harder and harder. But the trick is that you are both looking at different sides of the maze and, without seeing your partner's side of the maze, you will both need to communicate which direction to move the gnome to get around walls that will block the path on one side of the maze (that one partner can't see). Try to collect as many treasures as you can before time runs out! (Or use without the timer to take away the time pressure or accommodate different ability levels.)
