Rearrange tiles to create patterns and score points! In Shifting Stones, on your turn, you will have to strategically swap positions and/or flip over double-sided stone tiles to make the central grid match one of your pattern cards in your hand (or you can decide to take 2 new pattern cards instead). But choose carefully, because you must spend a card from your hand for every swap or flip! When you've been able to make the symbols and orientation of stone tiles in the grid match a card's pattern in your hand, you can score the points on that card! Different patterns score different numbers of points. When one player has reached the final number of pattern cards scored (which depends on the number of players), all players finish their final turn and whoever has collected the most points wins!
