Manage land plots and water irrigation, grow different species of bamboo, and feed the hungry panda! In Takenoko, you will have to strategically perform two different actions on your turn to try to meet objective cards in your hand. You may place a new plot of land, irrigate the land, move the gardener to grow bamboo, move the panda to eat bamboo, or draw a new objective card! When one player completes the final number of objectives (which depends on the number of players), all players finish their final turn and whoever has collected the most points wins! For an extra challenge, roll the weather dice at the beginning of your turn to apply special conditions to your actions.
