

MBET EMPLOYER SPONSORSHIP

Offered by the Conrad School of Entrepreneurship and Business at the University of Waterloo, the three-year, Part-time Master of Business, Entrepreneurship and Technology (MBET) is a graduate entrepreneurship masters program that combines interdisciplinary business courses with practical experiences in corporate entrepreneurship and innovation.

ENTREPRENEURIAL IMPACT FOR INNOVATIVE EMPLOYERS

MBET students gain high-value skills and knowledge that enable them to make an impact on enterprises and organizations of any size. Employees with an MBET degree:

- Effortlessly navigate ambiguity using creative and critical thinking
- Confidently move ideas forward and create new business opportunities
- Pragmatically apply skills and knowledge in an increasingly technological business environment
- Strategically support an entrepreneurial corporate culture

CURRICULUM

MBET students learn from industry leaders and collaborate with experienced mentors, gaining knowledge they can apply in their workplace or venture.

Students complete 10 courses on subjects like leadership, marketing, and corporate innovation. Detailed course descriptions are available on the Conrad School website.
