TERRITORIAL ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

The University of Waterloo acknowledges that much of our work takes place on the traditional territory of the Neutral, Anishinaabeg, and Haudenosaunee peoples. Our main campus is situated on the Haldimand Tract, the land granted to the Six Nations that includes six miles on each side of the Grand River. Our active work toward reconciliation takes place across our campuses through research, learning, teaching, and community building, and is co-ordinated within the Office of Indigenous Relations.

Message from the Chancellor

Welcome graduates, families, friends, and supporters to convocation.

I'm so pleased to again preside over the spring convocation ceremonies. This is my third year as Chancellor of this great institution, though my connection to the University of Waterloo dates back more than 30 years. I earned all three of my degrees here and have continued my strong connection to the University ever since.

Waterloo helped shape me, as I'm sure it has shaped the accomplished graduates who will receive their degrees today. Discovery, innovation, entrepreneurship, the freedom and inspiration to think big, audacious thoughts and to turn them into action – these are in the ethos of the University of Waterloo. Since stepping into my role as Chancellor in 2024, I have been delighted to connect with students, alumni, and our Waterloo community across our campuses and around the world. No matter where I am, I see our community members embodying Waterloo's spirit and values.

Convocation marks a culmination of so much hard work and dedication. Each graduate has successfully navigated their educational journey to make it to this milestone.

Members of the Class of 2026 have shown remarkable resilience and adaptability in a world that is changing faster than ever before. Their ability to stay focused, think boldly, and support one another will serve them well into the future.

I speak from experience when I say that Waterloo graduates are unique in the way they approach challenges, collaborate, and stay motivated to make the world better. They have the skills and the network to effectively address whatever lies ahead.

During convocation, we celebrate the achievements of our graduates and their shift to our alumni community. Since Waterloo's founding in 1957, we have conferred more than 263,000 degrees and certificates. The Waterloo alumni network extends to more than 150 countries and offers our graduates a community regardless of where their futures take them.

As alumni, we are all Waterloo ambassadors for life. We are also leaders. Waterloo graduates carry a responsibility to leave the world better than we found it, whether that means finding solutions to humanity's most significant challenges or fostering kindness, beauty and well-being for those most in need. The knowledge and creativity of Waterloo alumni continue to have a lasting impact on our community and beyond.

Congratulations to all our graduates and their families, friends, mentors, faculty and staff who helped make this tremendous accomplishment a reality.

Thank you for continuing the Waterloo tradition of excellence.

“I SPEAK FROM EXPERIENCE WHEN I SAY THAT WATERLOO GRADUATES ARE UNIQUE IN THE WAY THEY APPROACH CHALLENGES, COLLABORATE, AND STAY MOTIVATED TO MAKE THE WORLD BETTER.”

Message from the President and Vice-Chancellor

It is my privilege to welcome our graduates along with their families, friends and supporters to the University of Waterloo's Spring 2026 Convocation.

The road to earning a degree is challenging. It takes hard work, courage and dedication. In this year's graduating class, I have also witnessed their curiosity about the world, their drive to shape a better future and their resilience through challenging times.

A Waterloo degree is unique. Whether students choose co-op, undertake an entrepreneurial venture or explore courses or opportunities outside their disciplines, Waterloo provides an environment for them to embrace their passions and be unconventionally bold. Over the years, I have had the privilege of meeting so many new alumni at convocation, and have been inspired to hear about their big bold plans for life after university.

At Waterloo, we are proud to be a community of curious, collaborative, innovative and entrepreneurial problem-solvers and leaders who seek to build a better future for humanity and our planet. We think differently, act with purpose and work together. Our students don't just inherit this ethos – they continue to help shape it throughout their time at Waterloo and beyond.

As this year's graduates leave our campuses, they continue to be an important part of our Waterloo community. They are joining more than 263,000 alumni around the world, strengthening our connections and extending the impact of a Waterloo education globally.

This convocation also marks my final one as President and Vice-Chancellor of the University of Waterloo.

Like you, I move forward proud of what has been accomplished here and deeply grateful for the community that made it possible. While your next chapters will take you to many places, I hope you, as I will, remain connected to this extraordinary university and to one another.

Graduates, now is your opportunity to bring your unconventional thinking and innovations to the world. Global challenges are intersecting in complex ways. You are among the future leaders and change-makers who will help tackle these challenges and help shape a better future.

*Wherever your path leads,
I wish you all the best on the next stage of your journey.*

Our tradition of convocation

The ritual of convocation is a tradition that honours the roots of the university, and is, at the same time, a beginning for students who now enter a new stage in their lives.

We welcome guests on this celebratory occasion and thank you for being present to share in it.

Both the symbols and the ceremony of convocation look back far beyond the beginning of the University of Waterloo, back to the centuries of university life in Western civilization which Waterloo joined six decades ago. The founders of this University were eager from the beginning to make it part of that long tradition, although they proudly asserted that they were building a new and innovative university, with close ties to industry and an emphasis on practical knowledge for building the future.

On this day, as ancient customs mix with the use of up-to-date technology and exuberance of a new generation, convocation connects a forward-looking university with the traditions that universities have observed as long as they have existed.

The University of Waterloo grew out of an older institution, Waterloo College. A still older one, the University of St. Jerome's College, soon became federated with it, and the College of Optometry of Ontario joined the family in 1967. Although all these institutions were newcomers compared with Oxford and Harvard and the Jagiellonian, the connection to the traditional role and style of a university remains clear.

Tradition underlies the proceedings of today's convocation, the continuity of this University with centuries of academic experience. Passion brings the proceedings to life, along with the enthusiasm with which the University recognizes new achievements and new ideas.

CONVOCATION

A CALLING TOGETHER

Students graduate at the end of a program of study, leading to a degree with a traditional name: Bachelor, Master, or Doctor. On this day, their families and friends celebrate their success and their transition from one status in life to another. Convocation has been, for the past nine hundred years, a meeting of the whole university community at which symbols are displayed, participants wear special attire to emphasize their official roles, and speakers share their wisdom and the values that the university seeks to teach. Convocation (the name comes from Latin, which was once the primary language of higher education) is a calling together of new graduates to receive the symbols of their accomplishments, and a calling together of the older members of the university to witness and join in the celebration.

CONNECTING WITH TRADITION

At Waterloo's first convocation in June 1960, the guest speaker was James J. Talman of the University of Western Ontario (now Western University), who told the audience a little about the history of Waterloo County and its industry. "The greatest resource we still have is the minds of the people," Talman said. "And this resource still remains to be developed to its full potential. The people of the Grand Valley clearly appreciate this fact. As we see the success with which they developed the physical resources in the past we can only conclude that they will be just as successful in developing the intellectual resources of the future. The University of Waterloo can look forward to a brilliant and successful future."

THE PROCESSION

The most impressive part of the ceremony may be the procession that begins it. The graduating students will come in first, and as they fill up the main body of the hall, they will give the impression that today's ceremony really is, as convocation used to be, a ceremonial meeting of the whole University community.

After the graduating students have come in, the academic procession will begin. First to enter is the ceremonial Eagle Staff, a symbolic representation of the continuous presence of Indigenous Peoples of these lands, carried in by an Eagle Staff carrier. Next, a selected faculty member will carry the mace, a traditional symbol of the University's authority. Then faculty members enter, walking two by two, dressed in their academic finery.

The final party to arrive is the chancellor's party. The chancellor is the ceremonial head of the University of Waterloo. The chancellor presides over convocation ceremonies every June and October and awards all degrees, diplomas and certificates, including honorary degrees. The chancellor offers an inspirational message for the graduands at these ceremonies.

THE MACE

The solid silver and ebony wand was given to the University in 1965 by the family of the late Stanley F. Leavine and was designed by Toronto artist Eric Aldwinckle and crafted by silversmith Harold Stacey to symbolize the University as it was at that time. It displays lions, chevrons and the shield of the province of Ontario, from which the University holds its charter to grant degrees.

The symbolic theme of the mace is unity amid diversity, and tension in the creative intellectual process that strives to bring forth a new individual. The design of the mace interprets this theme in the idiom of the life process: from the seeds at the base of the stave the mace grows in unity and strength until it differentiates by a four-fold separation into diverse elements.

The four-fold diversity is significant because of the four faculties existing at the time the mace was presented to the University, and the four church-related colleges federated and affiliated with the University. These diverse elements together form a crown, and the point of the crown, while tending toward a union, do not quite touch. They remain as individuals suspended in tension and yet engaged in deep harmony. This creative process is focused not on the traditional spherical orb of static perfection but rather on an elliptical silver ovum – the egg-shaped symbol of creativity – the marvelous potential of a new individual life.

THE COAT OF ARMS AND MOTTO

The lions and chevrons also appear on the shield that is the University's coat of arms and is imprinted on the graduates' diplomas. Derived from traditional heraldry, it has been used since 1961 and was registered with the Court of the Lord Lyon in 1987. The shield uses the official colours of gold, black and white, and its symbols refer to the University's base in the cities of Kitchener and Waterloo. The unusual double chevrons were borrowed from the coat of arms of Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, and the red lions are like those on the coat of arms of the Duke of Wellington, victor at the 1815 Battle of Waterloo. The lions also reflect the tough and innovative spirit of the University's founders and builders, and the black and white in the chevron are the colours of Prussia, reflecting the Germanic background of many Waterloo County settlers. Beneath the shield appears the University's motto: Concordia cum veritate, "In harmony with truth."

DEGREES AND HONORARY DEGREES

Presentations of earned and honorary degrees, and the speeches associated with them, take up most of the time at convocation. Undergraduate and graduate degrees are awarded in each of our six faculties: Arts, Engineering, Environment, Health, Mathematics and Science. Also included are students who attended our colleges, Conrad Grebel University College, Renison University College, St. Jerome's University and United College.

In addition to "earned" degrees awarded to students who have met the requirements through years of effort, the University of Waterloo confers "honorary" degrees to individuals who have been designated by the Senate, the University's academic governing body, as deserving special honour. They, too, receive hoods, lined with the colour of the faculty that nominated them or with specially designated colours for other kinds of achievement.

By tradition, public service is recognized with a Doctor of Laws degree even in a university that does not regularly teach law. The individuals receiving honorary degrees are introduced during the ceremony, and a brief citation is read to explain their various accomplishments deserving of recognition by a university. One of the honorands will address convocation after the degree has been given.

EAGLE STAFF

On September 22, 2022, the University of Waterloo held a Commitment Ceremony pledging action toward decolonization, Indigenization and reconciliation. Weaving in the knowledge, ways of knowing, and understandings of First Nations, Métis and Inuit peoples equips the Waterloo community, especially Waterloo graduates, with the tools and knowledge they need to create a better future for all.

The commitment was formalized through a Pipe Ceremony, after which Vivek Goel, President and Vice-Chancellor, was given the name “Ogiima” (meaning leader) and presented with gifts of an eagle feather and two Wampum belts. Our recommitment is formally acknowledged in a special ceremony each fall.

Building on the desire and responsibility to incorporate Indigenous perspectives, the University of Waterloo community came together for a ceremony in 2023 to welcome an Eagle Staff to the University.

An Eagle Staff is an important element of the Indigenous relationship with Earth and those who have protected it. It reflects the wisdom, strength and honour of those who carry it, representing different nations on Turtle Island.

On September 30, 2025, a new Eagle Staff was presented to the University. It features 13 turtles representing Turtle Island climbing up the staff and 13 eagle feathers that symbolize the 13 moon cycles in a year. On one side of the skirt there are seven white beaded medallions representing the seven grandfather teachings of love, respect, courage, honesty, wisdom, humility and truth.

On the other side, seven beaded medallions represent the Earth and sky world and all our relations on Earth. Deerskin pouches containing the four sacred medicines, tobacco, sage, sweetgrass and cedar sit in the dream catcher held in the deer antler at the top of the staff. The staff carries many teachings and reminds us that all of life is connected, and none is more important than another.

The new Eagle Staff led convocation processions for the first time in fall 2025, marking an important moment in our ongoing journey of reconciliation. By welcoming the Eagle Staff, the University acknowledges the responsibility to recognize, accept and incorporate First Nations, Métis and Inuit perspectives in how we teach, govern and behave as an institution. It serves as a beacon of reconciliation on our shared path forward.

“THE EAGLE STAFF SERVES AS AN IMPORTANT SYMBOL AND REMINDER OF THE COMMITMENT WE MADE TO RECONCILIATION AND SERVES AS INSPIRATION FOR OUR UNIVERSITY COMMUNITY TODAY AND FOR FUTURE GENERATIONS.”

Outstanding academic achievement

Waterloo brings home the gold

Alumni Gold Medal recipients share in the pursuit of discovery, so we created a lasting symbol to honour their achievements.

Since 1970, Alumni Gold Medals have graced the convocation gowns of our top undergraduate and graduate students. The Royal Canadian Mint produced these medals in the past – but in the true spirit of Waterloo, we’ve decided to make them ourselves.

Carefully crafted on campus in state-of-the-art labs, each medal is created out of nickel superalloy using a 3D printer. The surface is finished by hand to produce a brilliant shine. Through the process of electroplating, the medal is then coated in 24-carat gold. The result is a tribute to Waterloo’s most accomplished graduates, made for each proud recipient by members of the University community.

YOU HAVE MUCH TO CELEBRATE, AND EVEN MORE TO ANTICIPATE IN YOUR FUTURE AS UNIVERSITY OF WATERLOO ALUMNI.

Our tradition of regalia

THE GOWN

At the University of Waterloo, as at most universities, academic robes are worn only on these special occasions. In the Middle Ages, robes were everyday clothing, and some students were so poor they had nothing else to wear. The black wrapper now called a “gown” served them as jacket, coat and sometimes bedclothes. Stone college buildings of the Middle Ages were unheated and the colourful “hood” could be pulled up to help keep out the cold wind. Today, the officers of the University, faculty members and graduating students all wear garments that are symbolic, not functional.

The scholars and students in long-ago universities were generally monks and other members of church orders. Over time, their vestments came to identify their universities. There are many variations, and the exact hood, gown or hat worn by an individual are determined by the university where they qualified. The array of colours and styles demonstrates the worldwide range of universities from which Waterloo’s faculty have come.

THE HOOD

Hoods are unique in design and colour to each degree and each university. The academic dress chosen for Waterloo is patterned after that of Oxford, the world’s oldest English-speaking university. The chief officers on the convocation platform – the chancellor (the ceremonial head of the University) and the president (who is also vice-chancellor) – wear gowns of the Oxford cut and trim, each with its own distinctive colour. The gowns worn by recipients of honorary degrees have the same design, as do the black gowns worn by candidates for regular degrees, and the red-and-green gowns which are Waterloo’s regalia for Doctor of Philosophy degrees.

The ritual at convocation reflects the old custom that anyone in a university could wear a gown, but a hood was the symbol for a degree.
