

Fall 2024 TA Job Posting for ECON ____102_____ (Please fill in your course number)

Please give a brief description of the course content or a link to the course outline:

This course introduces students to the measurement and behaviour of key macroeconomic variables both in Canada and around the world. Topics include national accounts, inflation, interest rates, wages, international balance of payments, business cycles, growth, employment, unemployment, poverty, and inequality.

The main goals of this course are to provide a good understanding of key macroeconomic concepts and aggregates, the interaction between different agents and sectors in the economy, how economies operate at the aggregate level, and the challenges policymakers face when setting policy.

The course will introduce important concepts in macroeconomics such as the determinants of output and employment, the causes and costs of inflation, the types and reasons for unemployment, the role of government, the central bank and financial institutions in the economy, the determinants of the exchange rate and the importance of fiscal and monetary policy.

Although this course will primarily focus on short-run fluctuations and closed economies, students will also learn about the determinants of economic growth and issues related to the open economy. We will apply the concepts learned in class to understand macroeconomic events in Canada and around the world.

Any necessary knowledge or skills needed:

Understanding of basic macro concepts. Good communication skills to conduct tutorials.

Please fill out this chart as closely as you can for the TA duties and hours you predict the course will be using for the entire Fall 2024 term. This will be used as an estimation only. Graduate TAs are not permitted to work more than 140 hours for the term or more than 10 hours in any given week (70 hours or 5 hours a week for a ½ TA). When thinking of the duties you might have for your TA, we ask that you be mindful of this constraint and try not to come up against it. TAs own coursework comes first. Negotiations for a reasonable amount of time for returning marked assignments, etc. will occur as needed.
