Overview: This course is designed to introduce students to the fundamental statistical methods used in Economics. A problem solving approach will be used to help students develop analytical and quantitative skills required to tackle economic problems with statistical data.

Required text: McClave, J.M., Benson, P. G. , Sincich, T. (2005) Statistics for Business and Economics (9th or 10th ed.) Pearson Publishing. Supplementary material will be given during the course, if and when necessary.

Course evaluation: There will be three (3) assignments (30%), two (2) midterms (30%) and a Final exam (40%). Mid-terms will cover sections of the material up to the mid-term time but the final exam will cover the entire course.

Notes:

Mid- term exam will be written in class. There will be no make up for a missed mid-term exam. If a valid documentation is provided for a missed mid-term, the weight will be shifted to the final exam.

Please note the following dates. Late assignments will not be accepted.

Important Dates

Assignment 1 - February 10
Midterm 1 - February 15
Assignment 2 - March 10
Midterm 2 - March 15
Assignment 3 - March 31

A tentative lecture plan is given below. This is subject to change depending on the class progress. Students are encouraged to practice all odd-numbered, end-of-chapter problems. Solutions will be put in reserve at Dana Porter Library

“Note on avoidance of academic offences: All students registered in the courses of the Faculty of Arts are expected to know what constitutes an academic offence, to avoid committing academic offences, and to take responsibility for their academic actions. When the commission of an offence is established, disciplinary penalties will be imposed in accord with Policy #71 (Student Academic Discipline). For information on categories of offences and types of penalties, students are directed to consult the summary of Policy #71 which is supplied in the Undergraduate Calendar (section 1; on the Web at <http://www.adm.uwaterloo.ca/infosec/Policies/policy71.htm>). If you need help in learning how to avoid offences such as plagiarism, cheating, and double submission, or if you need clarification of aspects of the discipline policy, ask your TA or course instructor for guidance. Other resources regarding the discipline policy are your academic advisor and the Undergraduate Associate Dean.” “Students who believe that they have been wrongfully or unjustly penalized have the right to grieve; refer to Policy #70, Student Grievance, <http://www.adm.uwaterloo.ca/infosec/Policies/policy70.htm>.” “How to Avoid Plagiarism and Other Written Offences: A Guide for Students and Instructors” - To <http://www.adm.uwaterloo.ca/infosec/Policies/policy70.htm>

Note for students with disabilities: The Office for Persons with Disabilities (OPD), located in Needles Hall, Room 1132, collaborates with all academic departments to arrange appropriate accommodations for students with disabilities without compromising the academic integrity of the curriculum. If you require academic accommodations to lessen the impact of your disability, please register with the OPD at the beginning of each academic term
