Course Description

This course provides an introduction to microeconomic analysis relevant for understanding the Canadian economy. The behavior of individual consumers and producers, the determination of market prices for commodities and resources, and the role of government policy in the functioning of the market system are the main topics covered.

Course Objectives

Microeconomics is the study of economic behavior of individual consumers and firms and the distribution of total production and income among them. It involves determination of price through the optimizing behavior of economic agents, with consumers maximizing utility and firms maximizing profit. The general concern of microeconomics is the efficient allocation of scarce resources among alternative uses.

Topics covered in this course include the theory of supply and demand, competitive and mixed market structures, consumer behavior and the role of government in the market economy. The focus of this course is to introduce students to the basic principles/theories of microeconomics. We will also use the general conceptual framework used in microeconomics to approach environmental and resource problems. At the end, students should be able to understand how scarce factors of production are allocated to different firms, how the produced goods and services are distributed to consumers and whether a coordination of the production and consumption plan is required so that supply meets demand.

Required Textbook

Parkin, Michael and Robin Bade (2018). "Microeconomics: Canada in the Global Environment", 10th edition. Pearson Education Canada. Available from UW BookStore.

My EconLab and study guide that accompany this textbook are optional.

Resources

Course related materials including lecture notes are posted on LEARN under:

ECON 101- Fall 2018

It is highly recommended that students attend the lectures and read the textbook. Lecture notes are provided as a supplement to the text book. The lecture notes and the content (including the room location) of the exams will be announced in class and on LEARN. The LEARN site is down occasionally. Save the course materials to your computer as soon as they are posted. Always be prepared! Students writing test and exams are responsible to save course materials on LEARN before the access to their courses is shut off (normally on the first day of classes of the next term). One copy of the required textbook will be placed on reserves in the Dana Porter library for three hours.

MyEconLab - is an online homework, tutorial, and assessment program designed to work with this text to engage students and improve results. Within its structured environment, students practice what they learn, test their understanding, and pursue a personalized study plan that helps them better absorb course material and understand difficult concepts.

FlexText - help in mastering course material to do well on examinations. Breaks down complex problems into simple, analytically manageable parts.

Midterm Exam 1	Tuesday, October 16, 2018	Chapters 1, 2 & 3	20%
Midterm Exam 2	Tuesday, November 20, 2018	Chapters 4, 8, 9, 10 & 11	30%
Final (comprehensive)	To Be Announced	Comprehensive	50%

List of Topics

Chapter 1: What is Economics?

- (1). Wants and scarcity
- (2). Microeconomics & macroeconomics
- (3). Positive and normative economics
- (4). Choices and tradeoffs
- (5). The Economic system and the environment
- (6). Appendix - graphs in economics

Chapter 2: The Economic Problem

- (1). Opportunity cost and production possibility curve
- (2). Absolute and comparative advantage
- (3). Gains from trade & economic growth
- (4). Free vs. fair trade

(5). Sustainability

Chapter 3: Demand and Supply

- (1). Law of demand & demand curve, change in quantity demanded and change in demand, law of supply and supply curve, change in quantity supplied and change in supply
- (2). Equilibrium price and quantity
- (3). Shift of the demand curve and shift of the supply curve
- (4). Predicting changes in price and quantity

Chapter 4: Elasticity

- (1). Price elasticity of demand and price elasticity of supply
- (2). Relationship between price elasticity of demand and total revenue
- (3). Income elasticity of demand and cross elasticity of demand
- (4). The factors that influence the elasticity of demand and elasticity of supply

Chapter 6: Government in Action

- (1). Demand and marginal benefit
- (2). Supply and marginal cost
- (3). Efficiency of competitive market
- (4). Surpluses and shortages, price ceilings & price floor
- (5). Minimum wage and rent control
- (6). Taxes and subsidies

Chapter 8: Utility and Demand

- (1). Total utility and marginal utility
- (2). Marginal utility theory and predictions of marginal utility theory
- (3). Paradox of value
- (4). Overconsumption and social norms

Chapter 9: Possibilities, Preferences, and Choices

- (1). Preferences and indifference curve
- (2). Budget schedule and budget line
- (3). Deriving an individual's demand curve & predicting consumer choices
- (4). Work-leisure choices

Chapter 10: Organizing Production

- (1). Explicit and implicit cost
- (2). Accounting profit vs. economic profit
- (3). Technological and economic efficiency

- (4). Markets and the competitive environment
- (5). Sustainable business or green business and Triple bottom line

Chapter 11: Output and Costs

- (1). Laws of production - short run and long run
- (2). Product curves (total product curve, marginal product curve and average product curve)
- (3). Short run cost curves
- (4). Long run cost curves

Chapter 12: Perfect Competition

- (1). Characteristics of perfect competition
- (2). Profit maximizing condition for short run and long run
- (3). Break-even point and shut down point
- (4). Entry and exit

Chapter 13: Monopoly

- (1). Characteristics of monopoly market and monopoly's output and price decision
- (2). Natural monopoly
- (3). Price discrimination
- (4). Comparing price and output between monopoly and perfect competition

Chapter 14: Monopolistic Competition

- (1). Characteristics of monopolistic competition
- (2). Price and output in monopolistic competition

Chapter 15: Oligopoly

- (1). What is oligopoly?
- (2). The kinked demand curve
- (3). Dominant firm oligopoly & Oligopoly games

Policy for Missed Exams

No make-up midterm exam will be provided for this course. Students who do not have a relevant medical certificate will receive a mark of zero on any missed exam and their final grade will be assigned in accordance with the formula specified above. For students who have valid medical certificate (approved by the instructor), the weight of the missed exam will be transferred to final exam. This remedy is a privilege and not a right. The midterm exam schedule has been set and will not be changed for whatever reason.

Missing the final exam is a very serious matter which automatically results in a grade of zero for the final exam and possibly a failing grade for the course. Please carefully read the Economics Department policy on deferred final exams for instructions. No deferred final exam will be provided for student who missed all the exams (including the final exam) in this course. Students are advised to notify the instructor in person about the missed exam as soon as they are better. E-mail notification about the missed exam is not accepted.

For detailed instruction regarding missed final exam, visit the following webpage:

<https://uwaterloo.ca/economics/undergraduate/resources-and-policies/deferred-final-exam-policy>

It is the responsibility of students to ensure that they write exams in the location, date, and time assigned to their section. Students writing exams in the wrong section will be assessed a 20% penalty on the final exam grade. There will be no accommodation for possible differences in exam material or content.

Submission of Exam Papers

Late submission of exam papers is not accepted and missed submissions will receive a zero mark for whatever reason.

Exam papers must be submitted in whole and on time in the exam room. Exam papers

- (a). not submitted on time,
- (b). submitted with missing pages,
- (c). submitted elsewhere, with the exception of students with permission to write in the AS Office,
- (d). not received at all will receive a grade of zero for whatever reason.

Grades

Exam marks will be posted on Learn. Posting grades in public places or sending grades by e-mail are prohibited by university regulations.

Fee-Arranged Issues

Students are responsible for administrative matters concerning their course registration including fee arrangements. No make-up work or remedies will be given for losses of access to LEARN and academic consequences arising from administrative issues with the Registrar's Office.

Economic Clinic

The department offers free tutorial services to students taking ECON 101 in a walk-in Economic Clinic. Details are available from LEARN, classes, and the department.

Attendance Policy

Class attendance is an integral part of the course. Although attendance is not marked, it is critical for understanding the course material. Students are responsible for all material covered in the course whether they choose to attend classes or not.

Classroom Protocols

- No private conversations in class will be tolerated.

- Turn off all cell phone communication devices and put them away for the duration of the lecture.
- In order to maintain a learning environment in this classroom, I expect the highest level of courtesy and professional behavior from every student.

Electronic Device Policy

- THIS IS A HANDHELD-DEVICE-FREE ZONE.
- Turn off all handheld devices and put them away for the duration of the lecture.
- Laptop computers may only be used to view lecture material.
- Photographic devices are not permitted in class due to copyright and privacy issues.
- Audio or video recording devices are not permitted in class due to copyright and privacy issues.

Cross-listed Course

Please note that a cross-listed course will count in all respective averages no matter under which rubric it has been taken. For example, a PHIL/PSCI cross-list will count in a Philosophy major average, even if the course was taken under the Political Science rubric.

Institutional-required Statements for Undergraduate Course Outlines Approved by Senate Undergraduate Council, April 14, 2009:

Academic Integrity: In order to maintain a culture of academic integrity, members of the University of Waterloo are expected to promote honesty, trust, fairness, respect and responsibility. See the UWaterloo Academic Integrity webpage and the Arts Academic Integrity webpage for more information.

Discipline: A student is expected to know what constitutes academic integrity, to avoid committing academic offences, and to take responsibility for his/her actions. A student who is unsure whether an action constitutes an offence, or who needs help in learning how to avoid offences (e.g., plagiarism, cheating) or about “rules” for group work/collaboration should seek guidance from the course professor, academic advisor, or the Undergraduate Associate Dean. When misconduct has been found to have occurred, disciplinary penalties will be imposed under Policy 71 – Student Discipline. For information on categories of offenses and types of penalties, students should refer to Policy 71 - Student Discipline. For typical penalties check Guidelines for the Assessment of Penalties.

Grievance: A student who believes that a decision affecting some aspect of his/her university life has been unfair or unreasonable may have grounds for initiating a grievance. Read Policy 70 - Student Petitions and Grievances, Section 4. When in doubt, please be certain to contact the department’s administrative assistant who will provide further assistance.

Appeals: A decision made or penalty imposed under Policy 70 - Student Petitions and Grievances (other than a petition) or Policy 71 - Student Discipline may be appealed if there is a ground. A student who believes he/she has a ground for an appeal should refer to Policy 72 - Student Appeals.

Accommodation for Students with Disabilities

The AccessAbility Services office, located on the first floor of the Needles Hall extension (1401), collaborates with all academic departments to arrange appropriate accommodations for students with disabilities without compromising the academic integrity of the curriculum. If you require academic accommodations to lessen the impact of your disability, please register with the AS office at the beginning of each academic term.

Mental Health Support

All of us need a support system. The faculty and staff in Arts encourage students to seek out mental health supports if they are needed.
