Course Description

This course uses economic theory to understand the general structure of law. It is not a law course. Specifically, it uses the economic model of decision making to examine how the law can be used to influence people’s behaviour. It also considers the concept of economic efficiency as a criterion for evaluating laws. Topics include property (including intellectual property), contracts, torts, family law and crime. The course will be very much discussion oriented and the amount of time we spend on each topic will be determined by student interest.

Course Goals and Learning Outcomes

This is a writing course, which means there is a very serious reading and writing component. There will be many readings over the course of the semester, generally from academic journals. You will be expected to keep up with the readings and be prepared to discuss them in class.

Required Text

- There is no textbook for this course. Instead, we will read a variety of published articles.

Readings Available on LEARN

- LEARN will be used extensively in this course. Please check regularly for readings and more.

Late Work

Assignments, the proposal and the term paper are due in the dropbox on LEARN on the due date given. Late work will be assessed a 20% penalty per day.

Information on Plagiarism Detection

All written work in this course will be vetted by Turnitin. This will be used as a teaching device as much as to prevent plagiarism. For information about the arrangements for the use of Turnitin, see Turnitin at Waterloo (<https://uwaterloo.ca/academic-integrity/integrity-waterloo-faculty/turnitin-waterloo>). Students who do not wish to have their work screened by Turnitin should inform the instructor in writing or email no later than the end of the second week to arrange for an alternative option.

Electronic Device Policy

Students are encouraged to bring laptops to class, especially for the purposes of taking notes and looking for material related to our in-class discussions.

Attendance Policy

Students are encouraged to attend all classes and to contribute to the in-class discussions. Students that do not attend, or attend without contributing will not receive participation marks and will most likely find the assignments and term paper more difficult.

Economics Department Deferred Final Exam Policy

Deferred Final Exam Policy found at <https://uwaterloo.ca/economics/undergraduate/resources-and-policies/deferred-final-exam-policy>

Cross-listed course

Please note that a cross-listed course will count in all respective averages no matter under which rubric it has been taken. For example, a PHIL/PSCI cross-list will count in a Philosophy major average, even if the course was taken under the Political Science rubric.

Academic Integrity

Academic Integrity: In order to maintain a culture of academic integrity, members of the University of Waterloo are expected to promote honesty, trust, fairness, respect and responsibility. See the UWaterloo Academic Integrity webpage and the Arts Academic Integrity webpage for more information.

Discipline: A student is expected to know what constitutes academic integrity, to avoid committing academic offences, and to take responsibility for his/her actions. A student who is unsure whether an action constitutes an offence, or who needs help in learning how to avoid offences (e.g., plagiarism, cheating) or about “rules” for group work/collaboration should seek guidance from the course professor, academic advisor, or the Undergraduate Associate Dean. When misconduct has been found to have occurred, disciplinary penalties will be imposed under Policy 71 – Student Discipline. For information on categories of offenses and types of penalties, students should refer to Policy 71 - Student Discipline. For typical penalties check Guidelines for the Assessment of Penalties.

Grievance: A student who believes that a decision affecting some aspect of his/her university life has been unfair or unreasonable may have grounds for initiating a grievance. Read Policy 70 - Student Petitions and Grievances, Section 4. When in doubt, please be certain to contact the department’s administrative assistant who will provide further assistance.

Appeals: A decision made or penalty imposed under Policy 70 - Student Petitions and Grievances (other than a petition) or Policy 71 - Student Discipline may be appealed if there is a ground. A student who believes he/she has a ground for an appeal should refer to Policy 72 - Student Appeals.

Accommodation for Students with Disabilities

Note for students with disabilities: The AccessAbility Services office, located on the first floor of the Needles Hall extension (1401), collaborates with all academic departments to arrange appropriate accommodations for students with disabilities without compromising the academic integrity of the curriculum. If you require academic accommodations to lessen the impact of your disability, please register with the AS office at the beginning of each academic term.

Mental Health Support

All of us need a support system. The faculty and staff in Arts encourage students to seek out mental health supports if they are needed.
