

University of Waterloo
Department of Economics
Economics 623/723: Applied Macroeconometrics
Winter 2019

Lecture Time/Location: Monday and Wednesday, 1:00pm - 2:20pm, DWE 3517

Instructor: Tom Parker

Office: HH 206

Office Hours: Tuesday, 3pm - 4pm or by appointment

Email/Phone: (email preferred) tmparker@uwaterloo.ca / x38600

Course Objective:

This course focuses on econometric methods used to analyze dynamic economic models. We will start with general tools from time-series econometrics that are used as building blocks in larger dynamic models. Then we will move on to multivariate methods that are more specialized for the analysis of macroeconomic data.

Textbook:

There is no required textbook for this course. I will be using material from several books and will post notes to the course website as we go along.

Topics:

The exact timing will be determined as we go along, but here are the planned topics in the planned order. The depth of coverage for topics 4 and 8 will depend on the pace of the course and class interest.

1. Stationary stochastic processes
2. Dynamic models with covariates
3. Model selection, prediction and inference
4. Models of time-varying volatility (maybe)
5. Unit-root and cointegrated stochastic processes
6. Vector autoregressions
7. Methods for panel data
8. Bayesian methods for dynamic structural models (maybe)

Evaluation:

Your mark will be made up of the following parts, with relative weights in parentheses below. Homework may be completed in groups of up to three people. There will be approximately one homework assignment per two itemized sections listed above. In order to differentiate the classes that meet simultaneously in this course, there will be some parts of homework and exams that everyone will answer and some parts reserved for 723 students alone.

1. Homework (40%)
2. Midterm Exam (30%)
3. Final Exam (30%)

Academic Integrity

Academic Integrity: In order to maintain a culture of academic integrity, members of the University of Waterloo are expected to promote honesty, trust, fairness, respect and responsibility. See the UWaterloo Academic Integrity webpage and the Arts Academic Integrity webpage for more information.

Discipline: A student is expected to know what constitutes academic integrity, to avoid committing academic offences, and to take responsibility for his/her actions. A student who is unsure whether an action constitutes an offence, or who needs help in learning how to avoid offences (e.g., plagiarism, cheating) or about “rules” for group work/collaboration should seek guidance from the course professor, academic advisor, or the Undergraduate Associate Dean. When misconduct has been found to have occurred, disciplinary penalties will be imposed under Policy 71 – Student Discipline. For information on categories of offenses and types of penalties, students should refer to Policy 71 - Student Discipline. For typical penalties check Guidelines for the Assessment of Penalties.

Grievance: A student who believes that a decision affecting some aspect of his/her university life has been unfair or unreasonable may have grounds for initiating a grievance. Read Policy 70 - Student Petitions and Grievances, Section 4. When in doubt, please be certain to contact the department’s administrative assistant who will provide further assistance.

Appeals: A decision made or penalty imposed under Policy 70 - Student Petitions and Grievances (other than a petition) or Policy 71 - Student Discipline may be appealed if there is a ground. A student who believes he/she has a ground for an appeal should refer to Policy 72 - Student Appeals.

Accommodation for Students with Disabilities

Note for students with disabilities: The AccessAbility Services office, located on the first floor of the Needles Hall extension (1401), collaborates with all academic departments to arrange appropriate accommodations for students with disabilities without compromising the academic integrity of the curriculum. If you require academic accommodations to lessen the impact of your disability, please register with the AS office at the beginning of each academic term.

Mental Health Support

All of us need a support system. The faculty and staff in Arts encourage students to seek out mental health supports if they are needed.
