Rock This Town brings to life the exciting history of rock music concerts in Kitchener-Waterloo from the 1960's and 1970's. An insider's look into the gritty reality of building the local live music scene. This 70-minute documentary features interviews with music business pros plus performances by today's musicians. Rock stars come and go but live music is here to stay!

Rock This Town was produced by Betty Anne Keller (BA '69), who will join each documentary screening to introduce the film and provide an exclusive Q&A session. The late Joe Recchia (BASc '68, MASc '71) and other special guests are featured in the film.
