Students are expected to attend class regularly and to participate in class discussion; the class format will emphasize discussion of the works to be covered. Assigned works must be read before the class.

Seminar:

For each seminar, two students will prepare a twenty-minute presentation on an assigned poem from the anthology. The seminar will consist of any background and biographical material you think will be useful to the class, followed by a critical literary analysis. I will be looking for your interpretation and your reading of the text. You may use visual or other aids; if you need any audio-visual equipment, you must let me know ahead of time. How you divide up the responsibilities in the seminar is up to you, but each member of the team will receive the same mark.
