430A, THE ENGLISH ROMANTICS 1

This course will introduce you to some of the common forms, genres, concerns and controversies of the "first generation" of Romantic authors.

It is absolutely essential that you read all assigned works by the prescribed date, and that you be prepared to discuss them in class. This is especially necessary for an evening class, in which a great deal of material will have to be covered at once.

Assignments:

Term paper Due November 25, in class 35%
In-class essay and test October 28 25%

Please be advised that cheating and plagiarism are serious offences. Anyone who cheats or who represents the work or ideas of another as his/her own will be subject to the disciplinary code of the University of Waterloo. Anyone who is unsure of the nature or meaning of plagiarism should talk to me before you begin work on your first assignment.

Please note also that assignments are due on the dates indicated above. I will deduct one percentage point per week-day for unexcused lateness. Essays not handed directly to me must be date-stamped by a secretary and placed in my mail-box in the English department (never under my door, please).
