

Wendell Wallach

Yale University: Interdisciplinary Center for Bioethics
University of Ottawa: Fulbright Research Chair

Towards a Comprehensive Approach for Responsible Innovation and Effective Oversight of the Emerging Technologies

Balsillie School of International Affairs

Tuesday, February 9, 2016

3:30 – 5:00 pm

Room 1-43

Control and Responsible Innovation in the Development of Autonomous Moral Machines

University of Waterloo

Wednesday, February 10, 2016

10:00 – 11:50 am

DWE (Douglas Wright Engineering building), Room 2527

A Dangerous Master: How to Keep Technology from Slipping Beyond our Control

Waterloo Institute for Complexity and Innovation

Wednesday, February 10, 2016

2:00 – 4:00 pm

MC (Mathematics & Computer building), Room 5501

Wendell Wallach Chairs the Technology and Ethics Study Group at the Yale University Interdisciplinary Center for Bioethics, and also serves as a Senior Advisor to The Hastings Center. His recent book is entitled, A Dangerous Master: How to Keep Technology From Slipping Beyond Our Control. Together with Colin Allen (Indiana University) he co-authored, Moral Machines: Teaching Robots Right From Wrong. He is presently a visiting Fulbright Research Chair at the University of Ottawa.

More information can be found <https://uwaterloo.ca/science-technology-society/> or contact Dr. Heather Douglas (heather.douglas@uwaterloo.ca)