Explore Christian traditions and deepen your faith through theological studies.

Study Christianity from an Anabaptist-Mennonite perspective in an ecumenical environment. With the guidance and encouragement of our dedicated faculty and supportive community, you’ll work toward developing skills for ministry, prepare for advanced graduate theological studies, or explore theology for personal enrichment.

RESOURCE YOUR CHURCH

All full-time Canadian students are eligible to receive full tuition scholarships. Early application deadline is February 1. Visit uwaterloo.ca/theological-studies

WHAT STUDENTS SAY

“I have grown in this program in tremendous ways. How I engage with scripture is a lot different. I pay attention to voices I never knew were there before.”

- Joshua, MTS grad 2019
The Master of Theological Studies (MTS) degree is a two-year program offered conjointly by the University of Waterloo and Conrad Grebel University College, and is open to persons from a range of academic backgrounds. In this supportive and stimulating environment, students enjoy frequent interaction with faculty, extensive library resources, study and social spaces, and opportunities for participation in a wide range of activities. MTS students may enrich their experience by taking courses in other programs at UWaterloo and at nearby universities and theological schools. Students may choose from three program options: coursework, applied studies, or thesis.

SAMPLE COURSES

- Studying the Old Testament
- Studying the New Testament
- Biblical Foundations of Peace
- Topics in Biblical Exegesis
- The Mennonite Tradition in Historical Context
- Worship, Ritual, and Ministry
- Church and Ministry
- Thinking Theologically
- Christian Ethics
- War and Peace in Christian Theology
- Theologies of the Global South
- Pastoral Care
- Supervised Experience in Ministry
- Aging and the Spiritual Life
- Worship and its Music
- Preaching

THEOLOGICAL STUDIES
CONRAD GREBEL UNIVERSITY COLLEGE
140 WESTMOUNT ROAD NORTH, WATERLOO, ON

519-885-0220 ext. 24211
theological.studies@uwaterloo.ca
uwaterloo.ca/theological-studies