Dear Conrad Grebel Graduates of 2023,

Congratulations and best wishes to you on behalf of the entire staff and faculty of Conrad Grebel University College. Thanks for taking the time to commemorate the milestone of your upcoming graduation with us, your family, and your friends. Completing a degree during a global pandemic is a major achievement, and we admire the adaptability, patience, and strength of character that has brought you to this point. These qualities will serve you well in whatever comes next for you.

The past few years of pandemic have demonstrated the many ways that human beings rely on each other for well-being on this small planet that we share. We hope that your time at Grebel has challenged you to integrate values of compassion, community, and responsible local and global citizenship into your education, and that you will carry these values into your future endeavours.

As alumni, you will always have a place here at Grebel. We hope you will stay in touch with us, and remember that you are always part of this community.

The very best to each of you,

Marcus Shantz

Dear Graduands, Families, and Friends,

On behalf of the entire University of Waterloo community, I wish to extend a sincere congratulations on the occasion of your convocation.

Convocation is a time to reflect on the past, and look ahead to the future. During your time here, you have come so far, and as you celebrate this milestone, our entire community celebrates your success.

As you know, the University of Waterloo stands as a proud partner with Conrad Grebel University College in its search for global justice, wisdom, and peace. In a world that is facing many complex challenges, and rapid change, the skills and values you have developed here will be more important than ever.

For over 50 years, the University of Waterloo and Conrad Grebel University College have partnered to deliver an exceptional educational experience. At the heart of Waterloo's relationship with Conrad Grebel is a spirit of collaboration and co-operation.

Remember that wherever your journey takes you, you will remain a special part of our University of Waterloo community.

Thank you for your contributions to our community. We hope your experience has been challenging, enlightening and provided you with direction on what to pursue next.

I wish you and your families good health, happiness, and every success.

Sincerely,

Vivek Goel, CM
President and Vice-Chancellor

Greetings from the Board of Governors

Graduates of 2023: Congratulations to all of you on your academic success culminating in your graduation.

While others have traveled a similar path to get to this destination, your journey included additional challenges resulting from the public health responses to the threats associated with the COVID-19 pandemic. In addition to the usual rigors of your academic study, integrating into new environments and communities, and experiencing new and challenging ways of thinking, you also experienced online classes and exams, public health limitations and reduced opportunities for community engagement. Your success in a difficult learning environment is a testament to your resilience and adaptability, and the skills and lessons learned in this time will serve you well in your future endeavours. We also recognize and appreciate the efforts and sacrifices of your families who have been integral in bringing this part of your journey to its successful conclusion.

We also welcome you to the ranks of Grebel alumni. While your opportunity to participate directly in Grebel life through classes, discussions, meals and social interactions may be more constrained in the future, we encourage you to remain an active participant in the broader Grebel community. We trust that you have developed lifelong friendships and connections while at Grebel and hope that you will avail yourself of the opportunities to remain involved and contributing to the Grebel community.

On behalf of the Board of Governors, we wish you continued success as you take the next step in your life, whatever that might be for you individually. We look forward to following your future success as you integrate the knowledge, skills and connections you have forged at Grebel in the community at large (wherever that may be for you) for the betterment of all.

Congratulations again, and enjoy this well-earned day of celebration of your accomplishments.

Greetings from the Conrad Grebel Alumni Committee

Dear Grebel Graduating Class of 2023,

Take a deep breath and breathe a sigh of relief—you've made it! On behalf of the Grebel's Alumni Committee, I want to wish you all a huge congratulations on getting here.

Hopefully this last year at Grebel was marked with a return to activities and experiences that felt more normal. As the world continues to change in ways that may be unpredictable, keep looking out for one another, and find ways to be an agent of positive change with the knowledge and experience you've been so fortunate to gain. We hope that your time spent at Grebel serves as a reminder that anything can be accomplished when people work together to make society a better place for everyone.

As you end this chapter of your life and move on to the next adventure, whatever that entails, we want you to know that Grebel will continue to be there for you; keeping you connected with the community you helped to build over the last few years. We hope that you stay connected with us! Make sure to check Grebel Now and keep your email address up-to-date. Look out for reunions and other special events run by Grebel, particularly with our 60th Anniversary Celebrations coming up next year. These events offer an amazing opportunity to reconnect with other Grebelites, and to reconnect with Grebel's amazing food also. You know you'll miss it!

Congratulations, and all the best for wherever life takes you.

Sincerely,

Greetings, Graduates!

On behalf of the congregations of Mennonite Church Eastern Canada, I extend my heartfelt congratulations on this day of celebration! Over the last number of years you have listened, asked questions, agreed, disagreed, explored new ideas, met joys and faced challenges as you attended classes, participated in events and activities and as you interacted with friends. On this journey you have also survived a worldwide pandemic, and despite this unexpected and unsettling experience, you brought diligence, hard work, determination and resilience. Today we commemorate and celebrate that you have reached this significant milestone!

Conrad Grebel University College has been a place for you to seek wisdom, nurture your faith and pursue justice and peace in service to church and society. You experienced the Grebel mission as you took classes and as you engaged in residence life, apartment life and/or in associate life.

May you continue to share the values that Grebel instilled in each of you...To be creative, globally engaged, compassionate, stewards of creation, peacemakers and generous as you work, study, play, serve, volunteer and make change!

Courage for the journey!

Warmly,

Ann L. Schultz
Intentional Interim Executive Team Leader
Mennonite Church Eastern Canada

Academic Regalia

Academic Robes are worn only on special occasions. In the Middle Ages, robes were everyday clothing, and some students were so poor they had nothing else to wear. The black wrapper now called a “gown” served as a jacket, coat, and sometimes bedclothes, and the colourful “hood” could be pulled up to help keep out the cold wind. On this day, the officers of the university, the faculty members, and the graduating students all wear garments that are symbolic, not functional.

The scholars and students in long-ago universities were generally monks and other members of church orders. Over time, their vestments came to identify their universities. There are many variations, and the exact hood, gown, and sometimes hat worn by an individual are determined by the university where they qualified. The array of colours and styles demonstrates the international range of universities from which Grebel faculty have come.

The Doctoral gown (or PhD gown, as it is sometimes called) has a full bell sleeve with velvet front facings and sleeve chevrons. Under the American Intercollegiate Code, the velvet is black or may be the colour indicating the department of the degree achieved. The Doctoral hood has velvet trimming indicating the department of the degree achieved and colored linings representing the specific institution. Canadian Universities generally follow the usage inherited from institutions of higher learning in the United Kingdom and also the American tradition. A befeater cap or a soft tam are often specified. Each University specifies its own patterns and colours for the gown, hood and cap, which are unique to each institution.

Master gowns also have pleated front panels. However, it has closed sleeves with squared ends which fall below the knees and have slits at the arm near the elbows. The squared sleeve ends with a semi-circle cut-out near the bottom. The Masters hood, also satin, has coloured trim representing the specific institutional degree.

The Master of Theological Studies hood is black satin with purple trim and white soutache braid trim.

The Master of Peace and Conflict Studies hood is green with wine soutache braid trim.

Bachelor gowns have pleated front panels and long wide sleeves. The Bachelors hood is satin with colored trim, representing a particular degree and field of study. Students will be “hooded” at their University of Waterloo Convocation ceremony.

Sharing Faith, Justice, and Identity in Song

Singing brings people together, creates a sense of belonging, and gives expression to the heights and depths of the human experience. At Conrad Grebel University College, singing plays an important role in building community among those who live, work, and study at Grebel.

In the Mennonite communities to which Grebel is connected, singing is an important part of worship and community life, creating a sense of unity and shared identity. As in other faith communities around the world, Mennonites sing to express their deepest convictions, with hymns often touching on themes of peace and social justice.

Music has been a core aspect of Grebel’s academic programing and residence life since the College was founded almost 60 years ago. Grebel’s history of fostering connections in the community through choral music has led to many alumni to become involved in choral music in their communities after graduation.

We offer opportunities to sing together at this Convocation celebration as a gift to graduands, their families and friends, and in the spirit of sharing a practice that has had deep meaning in our college community for many years. You are welcome to sing, or simply to listen, as you are inclined.
