

Winter 2024

HIST 291 001: Hodinohso:ni History

Understanding the histories of the Indigenous Peoples whose lands on which we live, and work is a key component of reconciliation.

This survey course will engage students with histories of the Hodinohso:ni Nation through concepts of mutual respect, reciprocity, and a good mind.

Learning outcomes: Throughout this course, students will learn to summarize and explain key themes and events in Hodinohso:ni histories. Upon completion, students will be able to show how these themes and events relate to contemporary Hodinohso:ni communities and experiences.

Replica of the Two-Row Wampum,
University of Windsor