Was alcohol, historically, a positive social, cultural and economic force, or was it a negative social, cultural, and economic force?