

KNOWLEDGE INTEGRATION

Career success: Where will KI take you?

uwaterloo.ca/design-your-education

Knowledge Integration (KI) students are a diverse group, with unique interests and a mix of career aspirations. After graduating with a Bachelor of Knowledge Integration, about half of our alumni join the workforce, the other half pursue post-graduate studies.

We can throw KI students into absolutely anything. The types of problems we face are really complex. KI has done a great job of training students to not take a problem at face value but to see all sides of it.

BROCK HART, CO-FOUNDER AND CEO, OVERLAP

UNIVERSITY OF WATERLOO

FACULTY OF ENVIRONMENT

KI provides an incredible base for whatever realm you want to problem-solve in. The curriculum will challenge you, broaden your perspectives and let you explore all of your interests, not force you to choose. The true beauty of KI is the well-rounded, articulate, numerate and empathetic students it produces.

I think the secret is that everyone is a KI student ... they just don't know it yet!

ALEX PEARCE, KI GRADUATE, MEDICAL RESIDENT
