University of Waterloo Mathematics Faculty 50th Anniversary

It is with great pleasure that I welcome you to the University of Waterloo Mathematics Faculty's 50th Anniversary.

As a teacher and Prime Minister of Canada, I know the value of an education characterized by an open dialogue and an atmosphere of inquisitiveness. Since its founding, the University of Waterloo has built a reputation firmly based on these principles, as well as on its dedication to intellectual rigour and pursuit of excellence.

As we gather to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the university’s mathematics faculty, let us also remember that our youth are not just the leaders of tomorrow, they are the leaders of today. It is the leadership of our young people that serves as our guiding light towards a prosperous and peaceful future for all.

Please accept my warmest welcome and best wishes for a memorable event!
