

Pharmacy preceptors' University of Waterloo Library access

Did you know?

Pharmacy preceptors have 24/7 access to resources and services of the University of Waterloo Library! (lib.uwaterloo.ca)

As a preceptor, what library resources/services can I access?

Your 24/7 online access means you will have access to:

- UpToDate
- Lexicomp
- RxTx
- Access Pharmacy
- IPA, EMBASE, MEDLINE via OVID
- and much more!

Your access includes all drug information tools, e-journals, online databases, and e-books, except for those resources specifically prohibiting preceptor use.

How can I access these resources?

You can easily access resources via the Preceptors Subject Guide – be sure to bookmark it!
(subjectguides.uwaterloo.ca/preceptors)

How can I access these resources at experiential sites?

When working off campus, you will be prompted to enter your library barcode and last name anytime you try to access an online resource of the University of Waterloo Library. In December, this barcode will be sent to the email address that the School of Pharmacy has on file.

Best of luck in your role as a preceptor, and we hope that you will enjoy your University of Waterloo Library access.

How long will I have library access?

Your access reflects the appointment timeframe of your position as a Clinical Preceptor: January to December 2024.

As a preceptor, how can I legally use these resources?

All use of the University of Waterloo Library's resources must be for the teaching and research work related to the role of preceptor. This means that any commercial use of these resources is illegal. Sharing of your login information is also not permitted. Violations of our license terms by anyone can result in the loss of access to that resource for the entire University community.

Who do I contact if I have a question?

If you have a question about your library account or library barcode, email pharmacy.library@uwaterloo.ca. Anytime you have a question about specific resources, email the pharmacy liaison librarian, Caitlin Carter, at c8carter@uwaterloo.ca.
