YOUR WINTER 2020 GRADES - DETAILS ABOUT THE CR/NCR OPTION

The University has previously shared with you about the option to change some or all of your winter term’s numeric grades to a credit/no-credit basis.

What happens if I choose this option?

- You will receive a CR grade for a passing grade; a credit is granted.
- You will receive a NCR grade for a failing grade; no credit is granted.

Note: The CR/NCR threshold is dependent on the predetermined pass grade for each course; most courses require a 50% to pass, but there are exceptions.

When do I have to make the request?

The University reviews student progress every term. For winter 2020, that process begins on May 11.

- You will begin to see any submitted grades on April 26; all grades should be viewable by May 4.
- Make the request between April 26 and May 10.

How do I make the request?

Information about how to access the request form will be available on the Undergraduate Studies Forms website starting April 26. You will not require any approval to have the change made. Once submitted to the Office of the Registrar, the change will be made in Quest.

How do I decide what is in my best interest?

- CR and NCR grades have no impact on any average calculation.
- A special COVID-19-related transcript text will be added to all student records for winter 2020, addressing the fact that this term was impacted.
- Faculty-specific considerations will be provided on the request form to assist you in making the right choice.
