International business has long been a major force in world economy and politics. In the contemporary era – largely due to the acceleration of economic globalization – its influence has become even more salient. In the first part of this course, we will examine economic globalization and its impact on the development of different parts of world, especially the global south. Students will be introduced to contending perspectives on this topic. The second part of the course will focus on the evolution and consequences of international business operations in this age of globalization. We will use case studies to explore in detail the positive and negative consequences for multinational corporations on the host countries, the home countries, as well as the world in general. The goal of this course is to develop a nuanced and critical understanding of the differentiated impact that international business has had on the economy, society and politics of the world. At the end of the course, we will discuss ways in which major stakeholders can promote the positive impact of international business while ameliorating its negative impact on development.

Readings:
All students are required to read these textbooks:

Items marked with * are additional readings for students enrolled in PSCI614/GGOV614.

Requirements:
Attendance and participation: In-class discussion is an important part of learning in this course. There will be discussion periods during each class, based on the reading assignments and other materials we will cover.

Position papers: During the first half of the semester, we will examine contending perspectives on the impact of economic globalization on development. Each week we will explore the effect of one dimension of economic globalization on development. You will pick a topic from a given list and write a 2-page position paper. Your paper should be based on the reading materials assigned for that week as well as other credible sources. Students will share their perspectives expressed in their papers in class.

Case study (for PSCI 490 students only): During the second half of the semester, we will focus on the role of multinational corporations – through foreign direct investment – in development. Each student will conduct a case study of a multinational corporation’s impact on some aspect(s) of development. You need to consult the professor regarding your case choice. You will present your case study in class. Please submit a complete draft of your case study by noon on the day before your presentation. After your presentation, you will have a chance to revise the case study. Your finalized case study should be about 15 double-spaced pages, including bibliography. It is due on Monday, December 3, 2012.

Research paper (for PSCI614/GGOV614 students only): You are required to write a theory-oriented paper on some aspect(s) of the relationship between international business and development. It should be based on independent research and should engage cutting-edge scholarly literature in this field. You need to consult the professor regarding your topic. You will present your paper in class. Please submit your draft paper by noon on the day before your presentation. After your presentation, you will have a chance to revise the paper. The revised paper should be 20-25 pages long (double-spaced), including bibliography. It is due on Monday, December 3, 2012.

Important: There will be no make up for missed assignments and no extension for paper submission, except under circumstances beyond your control (e.g., illness and other types of emergencies, for which you need to bring official documentation).

University policies:

Academic Integrity: In order to maintain a culture of academic integrity, members of the University of Waterloo community are expected to promote honesty, trust, fairness, respect and responsibility. [Check www.uwaterloo.ca/academicintegrity/ for more information.]

Grievance: A student who believes that a decision affecting some aspect of his/her university life has been unfair or unreasonable may have grounds for initiating a grievance. Read Policy 70, Student Petitions and Grievances, Section 4, www.adm.uwaterloo.ca/infosec/Policies/policy70.htm. When in doubt please be certain to contact the department’s administrative assistant who will provide further assistance.
Discipline: A student is expected to know what constitutes academic integrity [check www.uwaterloo.ca/academicintegrity/] to avoid committing an academic offence, and to take responsibility for his/her actions. A student who is unsure whether an action constitutes an offence, or who needs help in learning how to avoid offences (e.g., plagiarism, cheating) or about “rules” for group work/collaboration should seek guidance from the course instructor, academic advisor, or the undergraduate Associate Dean. For information on categories of offences and types of penalties, students should refer to Policy 71, Student Discipline, www.adm.uwaterloo.ca/infosec/Policies/policy71.htm. For typical penalties check Guidelines for the Assessment of Penalties, www.adm.uwaterloo.ca/infosec/guidelines/penaltyguidelines.htm.

Appeals: A decision made or penalty imposed under Policy 70 (Student Petitions and Grievances) (other than a petition) or Policy 71 (Student Discipline) may be appealed if there is a ground. A student who believes he/she has a ground for an appeal should refer to Policy 72 (Student Appeals) www.adm.uwaterloo.ca/infosec/Policies/policy72.htm.

Note for Students with Disabilities: The Office for Persons with Disabilities (OPD), located in Needles Hall, Room 1132, collaborates with all academic departments to arrange appropriate accommodations for students with disabilities without compromising the academic integrity of the curriculum. If you require academic accommodations to lessen the impact of your disability, please register with the OPD at the beginning of each academic term.
