A competition promoting the creation of actionable, evidence-based solutions to current financial challenges faced by vulnerable communities.

Who can participate:
Post-secondary students in any department or academic discipline

Requirements:
Papers must propose a solution to a personal finance, consumer protection, and/or financial literacy problem faced by individuals or populations (e.g., barriers to financial well-being, socioeconomic barriers, etc.).

Deadline for submission:
April 30, 2021

Selected papers will be published by the Government of Canada and presented to government officials and stakeholders in the financial literacy and consumer protection communities.
