MASTER OF SOCIAL WORK

Canada’s first health-focused online MSW program, offered in collaboration with the Faculty of Applied Health Sciences at the University of Waterloo.
SOCIAL WORK IS GOOD FOR YOUR HEALTH

Social work practice in the field of health involves working with individuals, families, groups, communities and organizations on issues such as disease prevention, health education, treatment and rehabilitation, building community partners and social support, and health promotion in the community, workplace and through social policy reform.

FULL-TIME AND PART-TIME OPTIONS

This program is mostly online, requiring you to come to campus for two one-week modules — one at the beginning of your studies, and one at the end. The full-time program takes one full calendar year. The part-time program takes two full calendar years. Both full-time and part-time programs contain a field practicum which can be in your home location.

Application deadline for full- or part-time: November 15 for the following August intensive on-campus module.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS:

- A Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) degree from an accredited social work program.
- Minimum 75% grade point average (GPA) in the final two years of study.
- The successful completion of one half course in Research Methodology and a half course in Statistics OR one full course which includes both.
- Demonstration of sufficient work and/or volunteer experience in social work.
- Personal suitability as evidenced by letters of reference and a personal statement.

Learn more about the MSW program and how to apply at uwaterloo.ca/school-of-social-work or email renison.socialwork@uwaterloo.ca.