University of Waterloo Research + Technology Park E-Waste Drive

WATERLOO, ON, January 5, 2010 – During the week of November 30th- December 4th, 2009 the UW Research + Technology Park held its first ever e-waste drive with great success. 10,226 pounds of e-waste was collected at three in-park depots located at the Sybase building, Accelerator building, and TechTown building.

Special thanks go to the three depot hosts, GreenTEC, Dan Cummins of Sybase for suggesting the program, and all those who participated.

The UW Research + Technology Park looks forward to hosting the program again in the spring.

The UW Research + Technology Park is one of Canada’s newest research parks. Reflecting the enterprising spirit of Waterloo Region, it ensures continued support for pure and applied research and innovation throughout Canada. Tenants of the research park have access to Waterloo’s talented co-op students, alumni and professors as they seek to create breakthrough research discoveries.
