MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

It’s hard to believe that summer is drawing to a close. I hope that you have had some fine weather wherever you were, and were able to enjoy special activities, travels, and good times with family and friends.

The UWRA closed off the 2011-2012 year with its Annual General Meeting at the end of May in the Waterfall Gallery at Luther Village. The meeting featured brief reports by Board members on their various portfolios. Dave Carter’s Report from the Pension and Benefits Committee is of special interest to most retirees, and so is reprinted in this issue of WATtimes. The AGM was also the occasion to elect the Board of Directors for the coming year. This time we bade farewell to three Board members, and welcomed three new members. Please see the report on ‘Changing of the Guard’ later in this issue for details. After the business meeting was adjourned, members and guests enjoyed an informal social time with complimentary refreshments.

We now look ahead to the fall and a new round of activities. The first of our fall Coach Tours on Wednesday, September 14th will take us to Hamilton, where we will board and tour the HMCS Haida, enjoy a lunch harbour cruise, then have a guided tour of the Hamilton Museum of Steam & Technology. Our annual Fall Reception will follow two weeks later on Wednesday, September 28th at the University Club – a not-to-be missed opportunity to visit with colleagues and friends while enjoying complimentary refreshments. The Fall Luncheon will take place on Tuesday October 11 (please note the early date this year), featuring ceramic artist and UW retiree Ann Roberts as our guest speaker. Finally, on Tuesday October 25, we’ll be treated to a matinee performance of My Fair Lady at the Shaw Festival in Niagara-on-the-Lake. We look forward to welcoming you to one or more of these activities this fall. More details for each are inside.

I’m happy to report that our campus volunteer program is moving ahead with a pilot project planned for this fall. Two retiree volunteers, Elise Devitt and Shirley Walker, will conduct a cooking show for about 15 students in late October. A planning meeting was held in early June, led by our campus contact for this project, Katie Eley (Student Relations Coordinator). Also present were Heather Kelly of Food Services, and our volunteers. More preparatory work will take place in the early fall, including a student survey to help identify student preferences for show content. Campus staff will evaluate the first show to determine how to proceed in future. If successful, the aim would be to produce one cooking show per term.

And finally, please check the information about two new Volunteer Opportunities later in this issue.

The University of Waterloo is gearing up for its 2011 United Way Campaign. Our campus goal this year is to raise $210,000 through the month of October to help the United Way agencies within our community provide needed services to children, families and newcomers of the Waterloo Region.

The retirees of the University of Waterloo have always been generous in the United Way Campaigns. In 2010, you contributed more than 20% towards our record-breaking total of $217,000 in personal donations! We hope that all our faithful contributors – and many new ones – will support the campaign again this year.

Watch for your pledge package in the mail in September, and show that you care! Thank you!

From Richard Wells and Alexandra Lippert, 2011 United Way Co-Chairs
THE EDITOR’S CORNER

Thanks go as usual to Jan Weber, Sara LeBlanc, and their crew in Creative Services for layout and production. Most of our regular contributors have been faithful, Neal has a new Profile and Gerry has given us a “Wine Based Crostic” not to be connected with our first fall celebration since we changed its name to The Annual Fall Reception (AFR?). You readers have not responded to my repeated suggestions that you send ideas for profiles and other subjects. Don’t be shy!!! The alternative is more comments like the following from your editor.

PROFILE OF MARJ KOHLI – BY NEAL MOOGK-SOULIS

Neal Moogk-Soulis is a writer and historian in Waterloo. When he is not writing, he is actively involved in many history and community related projects in the area.

Marj Kohli’s history begins in the 1600s though she herself doesn’t appear in the story until the mid-20th century. For nearly three decades she has been passionate about tracing family stories – what others might refer to as genealogy – as far back as she can go. Her interest was sparked in the 1980s by one of her daughters’ eighth grade school projects. Her daughter was required to trace her family back three generations. Long after the project had been handed in, Marj continued the journey to discover the various branches of her family tree.

“History is a passion for me. I want to be able to put my people in their time period so I can understand what it was like for them as best I can,” she told me recently. This includes looking at more than just names and important dates such as births, marriages and deaths. This is why Marj prefers to call her pursuit searching for family stories rather than genealogy. “You learn interesting and sad things,” about your past she said.

Another thing that she likes to look up are a person’s occupation, frequently listed in census and other official documents such as marriage certificates or death certificates. Often these occupations are obsolete which makes it a challenge to discover what the person actually did. In one case, a relative’s occupation was described as a ‘lighterman.’ She initially confused this occupation with that of a lamplighter. A lighterman actually ferried goods from seagoing ships in the River Thames to shore. Given her interest in occupations and in particular those that are no longer practiced or which have dramatically changed over time, it is appropriate that Marj started her career at the University of Waterloo as a keypunch operator in the psychology department.

During the recent heat wave, I stopped at the new Sobey’s Store on Ira Needless Drive to get some on-sale ice cream. Between the checkout area and the exit doors, a display of small cubic picnic hampers caught my eye. Perhaps they were about the right size to protect my ice cream carton from the heat, but I noticed an amusing twist in the English wording printed on the sign. When a helpful floor clerk asked if I needed any assistance, I suggested that the display sign puzzled me; perhaps it had been misplaced from the lingerie section? She grinned as she read it... “Foam Chests, $2.69.”

up in a particular city as grow up on and in the vicinity of a variety of air force bases which included Edmonton, Saskatoon, Winnipeg, Aylmer, Trenton and Camp Borden. Her family settled in Winnipeg after her father retired from the air force. While her father later died of cancer, her mother, three sisters and one brother continue to live in Winnipeg while another sister lives in Ottawa.

It was in Winnipeg that Marj met her husband Frank who was an air force navigator. They married in PEI where Frank was stationed at the time. When Frank left the air force, the Kohlis moved to Waterloo Region where Frank took a job with Canada Health and Accident Assurance Company. Frank had been born in Hespeler. In time, one daughter and a son joined the family.

Marj had an interest in local history and has been active with the Waterloo Historical Society for many years. She is currently on the Society's publications committee which oversees the annual volume of articles about local history. Marj has also contributed several articles to the annual volumes.

Though she did not have any so-called 'home children' in her family tree, Marj found herself drawn, through her interest in local history, into the history of British children sent overseas in the 19th and early 20th centuries. Her husband Frank, who had grown up in Hespeler, always referred to Jacob Hespeler's house as "the Coombe" and Marj didn't know what the Coombe was. This led her to investigate the history of the Coombe and to discover that it had been a stopping place for children sent from Ireland before they were placed in farms and homes in the area. The Coombe had been built by village founder Jacob Hespeler in 1858. It was purchased by the Smyly sisters in 1905. By 1917 the home was transferred to the Ontario government.

What started out as interest in a local landmark grew into a 12-year project researching the Home Children in Canada. When she started her project no one had written much beyond a few cursory chapters in larger histories about the Home Children. Those that did write about the Home Children wrote from the British perspective. To begin her research Marj had to search for primary sources.

"It became an extremely interesting research project," she said. In the early 1990s long before reliable information or even simply indexes were available online a lot of her work was conducted by letter. Her work included writing lots of letters to archives and organizations around the world seeking information and then waiting weeks if not months for replies. In other cases, she traveled to archives in Canada and the United Kingdom to look at documents. "It was slow going but later things got a little easier for me with the Internet. The project became what I did when I wasn't at work."

The Internet became a blessing and a curse for Marj's project. A side project that grew into an equally large project was The Ships List. In collaboration with Sue Swiggum, Marj helped build an online database of passenger shipping records from the 19th and 20th century. The website has been online since 1999. This allowed Marj and other researchers to share their transcribed notes from various archives with a global community as genealogists tracked various branches of their tree.

Around the same time as The Ships List was launched, Marj was compiling her research into a book manuscript. As the volume of material on the Internet grew, Marj found herself drawn to new records to complete her collection. Her passion in research is good footnote. "I've got pages and pages of them. In my research I have found information that I can't verify because there was no reference to follow. If I found something, I'm going to tell them where I found it so they can pursue it."

The Golden Bridge, was published by Natural Heritage Books in 2003 (later acquired by the Dundurn Press). The fact that this was the same year as her retirement was merely coincidental. "My publisher finally said, 'look, we're going to cut this off because you probably have enough material for two books.' The book was well received including a favourable review by the British National Archives. She has heard from many graduates students, including doctoral candidates, who reported that their supervisors allowed them to use her book as a source because of the depth and breadth of footnotes. "I know some people thought I was crazy, but if you're going to do something like that I think you should tell people where you got your information from."

Both projects continue to keep her busy with regular correspondence with researchers around the world about either young immigrants or passenger ships. As young immigrants were sent to Canada, the United States, Australia and South Africa her research has attracted global interest. As she was wrapping up her manuscript, she was interviewed by and Australian Senate Committee that investigated the Home Child experience from and Australian perspective. 2010 was declared the Canadian Year of the Home Child which kept Marj busy giving talks and interviews "here, there and everywhere."

Though she remains busy with Home Children and the Ships List, there will not likely be another book in the near future. Marj hopes to be able to return to her own family histories and complete her family genealogy while her mother, who still lives in Winnipeg, can enjoy the fruits of Marj's labour. For the past few years she has completed a history of one branch of either her or her husband's family tree. "You get caught up in the history end of it. There is always a branch that you can't follow but you know that the information has got to be out there."

Volunteers Needed for Alzheimer Research

UWaterloo Profs. Poupart (Computer Science) and Roy (Kinesiology) with their research teams and collaborators at Sunnybrook Hospital in Toronto are developing some new technology to monitor the progression of the symptoms of Alzheimer’s disease. We are looking for healthy volunteers (i.e. do not have Alzheimer’s disease), between 50 and 85 years old who live with a companion, to participate in a study where their walking, cognitive, and language abilities will be compared to the abilities of people with Alzheimer’s disease. The companion will help in the study by providing health information about the volunteer and serving as a conversational partner in one of the tasks. Members of the UW Retirees Association and their family members are invited to participate (must be at least 50 years old). Participants will wear a sensor system (i.e., smart phone, microphone and accelerometers) for 5 days and perform some cognitive and physical tasks.

If you and/or one of your family members is interested, please contact Rhiannon Rose at 519-888-4567 ext. 32972. There will also be an information session about the research and how to participate as a volunteer on Wednesday, September 14 at 11 am in the Davis Center, room 1304.

This project was reviewed and received ethics clearance through the Office of Research Ethics, University of Waterloo.

Share in the Spirit of the Season: Host an International Student for your Holiday Dinner

The International Students Holiday Experience (ISHE) is a culture-based program offered to international students who are unable to return home for the December holiday break. Students participating in the ISHE, have the opportunity to connect with new friends, faculty, and staff members while learning about the Canadian culture through a variety of experiences. The traditional holiday dinner is one of the most memorable cultural experiences offered to participants. Currently, we are seeking University of Waterloo staff, “faculty, and retirees (or referrals) that are willing to open up their hearts and homes to our international students for a traditional Canadian holiday dinner on December 25, 2011.

If you or someone that you know is interested in hosting an individual or a group of international students at your holiday dinner, please contact Katie Eley at mkeley@uwaterloo.ca or 519 888-4567 ext. 31310.

REMINDER OF IMPENDING UWRA MEMBERSHIP FEE CHANGE

UWRA membership fees have remained unchanged for many years, indeed, for decades, as many long-time members will recall. In that time the costs of “doing business” to serve members well, have continued to rise without compromising any of the benefits of membership. Specifically, the Association has faced annual increases in costs associated with mailing and postage. We have also seen regular prices increases for facility rental and refreshments for such events as the Fall Reception (Wine and Cheese party) and the Annual General Meeting.

At a recent meeting, your Board agreed that it was time to change membership fees to help defray some of the increases in operating expenses. Therefore, effective January 1, 2012, fees will change as follows:

» Annual Membership fees will be raised from $10 per year to $12 per year
» Life Membership fees will be raised from a one-time cost of $100 to $120
A “WINO’S” CROSTIC – GERRY TOOGOOD, UNIVERSITY OF WATERLOO

Start by answering as many clues as possible. (Semi-colons in some clues are used to separate alternative clues for the same answer.) Next, transfer these letters to the correspondingly numbered squares in the grid. This begins the spelling out of the quotation, reading from left to right, with black squares separating the words. (Words may spill over to the next row; punctuation marks are not included.) Three letters are given.

As you proceed, words and phrases begin forming in the quotation and, working back and forth between the grid and the clue words, you can complete the puzzle. To aid you further, note that the first letters of the clue answers spell out the source of the quotation.

One AGM agenda item of general interest was the election of the UWRA Board of Directors for the coming year.

There had been one change to Board membership during the year.

Bob Kerton joined the Board in November 2010, succeeding Bob Norman as the Retiree Co-Chair of the Keystone Campaign. Bob Norman remained on the Board as Vice-President. Both were re-elected at the AGM.

Three Board members stepped down at the AGM:

Dave Carter served as our representative to the UW Board of Governors Pension and Benefits Committee for the past six years. Dave has been a strong retiree voice on that committee, has communicated its decisions back to the Board each month, and seen that items of special interest have been reported to the membership at large through WATtimes.

Jerry Bolce joined the Board in 2003, and served as Website Manager during his entire term. Jerry has managed the site with efficiency and skill, keeping the postings up-to-date, and getting WATtimes up long before it hit our snail mail boxes.

Angelo Graham joined the Board just a year ago, and has worked diligently and conscientiously in the portfolio of Secretary. He found that it took more time than he bargained for, so regrettably found he had to tender his resignation.

We’ll miss all three, and thank them for their commitment and contributions to UWRA.

Three new members joined the Board:

- Jim Brox is our new representative to the UW Pension & Benefits Committee.
- Hazel Kennedy is the new Website Manager.
- Brenda Smith has assumed the role of Secretary.

We are delighted to welcome these new Board members, and look forward to working with them in the coming years. You can find brief profiles elsewhere in this issue.

Other continuing Board members are: Robin Banks, Lorraine Beattie, Rediña Caracaz, Pat Cunningham, Phil Eastman, Jim Kalbfleisch, Shirley Thomson, Judy Van Evra and Terry Weldon.
ART AT THE FALL LUNCHEON!
– PAT CUNNINGHAM

After a busy summer, we look forward to seeing everyone again at our Fall Luncheon on Tuesday, October 11th at the Sunshine Centre/Luther Village on the Park. Bring a guest or two, and enjoy visiting with friends from UW!

We are delighted that Ann Roberts, Professor Emerita of Fine Arts (1975-2001), will speak about “CHALLENGING IDEAS or TRADITIONAL REALISM? What do we expect from today’s artists?” Ann will encourage you to widen your understanding of what you are willing to accept from today’s avant guard artists. Some of their art will morph with time and familiarity into prized collectables. The Group of Seven artists are greatly admired by Canadians and their prices continue to rise at auction. It is strange to think that their work was once dismissed by critics and scorned as untutored dabbling.

Ann is now working in her studio beside the Grand River in preparation for a retrospective exhibition to showcase her work selected from 50 years of exhibiting in Canada and abroad. The exhibition will open January 29 and continue to April 8, 2012 at the Clay and Glass Gallery in Waterloo. For further information see www.theclayandglass.ca/exhibitions/future-exhibitions.

Reserve your banquet tickets early! If you would like to attend but need a ride, please call Robin Banks at 519-884-8984.

PARKING:
There is limited free parking in designated areas at the front, side and back of Luther Village. We may NOT park at the Waterloo Recreation Centre.

HAMILTON MARINE & STEAM

Hamilton Harbour provides the setting for today’s nautical adventures. We begin by boarding the HMCS Haida, a Canadian destroyer used in World War II and open for us to explore. For one and one-half hours, we will experience the sights and atmosphere of all sections of the ship, from bridge to engine room, just as our sailors did during the war!

At noon, we will board the Hamilton Harbour Queen, for a two-hour luncheon cruise, circling the harbour. Lunch will be served on the enclosed main deck and after, the open sun deck above will provide us with a panoramic view of the harbour and environs. As we cruise, a running narrative will keep us informed of the passing scenes. Bar service will be available.

Upon returning from our cruise, our coach will take us through the industrial sector of the waterfront, past the steel mills, to the Hamilton Museum of Steam & Technology. There, we will find a magnificent 19th century stone building which contains two Canadian-made, 45-foot high, 70-ton steam engines, which pumped the first clean water to the city over 140 years ago! One engine operates as a demonstration every day! We will be given a guided tour of this fascinating facility!

NOTE: This trip involves considerable climbing of stairs and may not be suitable for those with mobility problems.

COST: $88.00 dollars for members, including spouses and guests; $93 dollars for non-members. Price includes motor coach, luncheon cruise, all tour guides and admissions, all taxes and gratuities.

COACH DEPARTURE TIME AND LOCATION: 8:30 am, UW parking lot X (behind Optometry). Free parking for UWRA cars has been arranged with UW Parking Services. Please arrive at least ten minutes prior to departure time to obtain your free parking permit. Returning to UW approximately 6:00 pm.
TUESDAY, OCTOBER 25, 2011

SHAW FESTIVAL – MY FAIR LADY

NOTE: Although this trip has been sold out for some time, late cancellations can occur. If you are interested in going, you may have your name added to our waiting list by registering with Rediña Caracaz, as instructed below under “RESERVATIONS”.

My Fair Lady needs no introduction, as we all have hummed along with its songs over many years! Come with us to Niagara-on-the Lake for a matinee performance of this legendary musical at the famous Shaw Festival! All seats are located on the main level of the Festival theatre, to allow easy access.

Prior to the show, we will be treated to a delicious pub lunch at the Olde Angel Inn, located in downtown Niagara-on-the-Lake. The Angel was established in 1789 and rebuilt in 1816, after being badly burned in the War of 1812. It is the oldest operating inn in Ontario.

NOTE: Because we must pay Shaw in full for our theatre tickets by September 10, 2011, we cannot refund any members who cancel after that date, unless a replacement can be found.

COST: $112 dollars for members, including spouses and guests; $117 dollars for non-members. Price includes motor coach, lunch, theatre admission, all taxes and gratuities.

COACH DEPARTURE TIME AND LOCATION: 9:30 am, UW parking lot X (behind Optometry). Free parking for UWRA cars has been arranged with UW Parking Services. Please arrive at least ten minutes prior to departure time to obtain your free parking permit. Returning to UW approximately 7:00 pm.

GENERAL CANCELLATION POLICY

Because we must pay our suppliers for numbers reserved in advance, we regret that we cannot offer refunds for cancellations made within seven days of the trip departure date, unless otherwise stated in the trip description. We do maintain a waiting list when applicable and if a replacement can be found within a reasonable time, a refund may then be made. Answers to a “Wino’s” crostic, page 6

The quote is from Kingsley Amis: “The MMIII (2003) Claret”, as follows

“He enjoyed claret all right but he also enjoyed other French wines, German wines, and Italian wines, and Iberian wines, and Balkan wines, and fortified wines, and spirits and liqueurs and aperitifs and cocktails and draught beer and bottled beer and cider. There were some drinks he had never tried – Arak, Kava, methylated spirits – but they were getting fewer all the time."

The Pensions and Benefits Committee is a subcommittee of the Board of Governors of the University of Waterloo that oversees the pension and benefits funds for approximately 3,500 active faculty and staff and 1,400 people receiving pensions from the pension fund. As well, the committee recommends policies, initiatives and changes to the pension plan and benefit program to the board of Governors. The committee is composed of 16 members, chaired by Ms. Janet Passmore, Associate Provost, Human Resources, with representation from the Board of Governors, Administration, Faculty, Staff, Unions and the Retirees’ Association. The committee is advised by Mr. Allan Shapira of AON Hewitt Associates, our pensions and benefits consultants. The committee meets monthly throughout the year except during the summer.

PENSION PLAN
Mr. Shapira presented the Final Actuarial Valuation Results for Jan 1, 2011 at the March Pensions and Benefits Committee meeting. The document is 26 pages long. Let me just say that the plan given the past economic condition is in good shape. The present Unfunded Liability on a Going Concern Basis is $141.5 Million up from $108.32 Million on Jan 1, 2010. To address this, the University will allocate contributions over and above current service requirements in the amount of $8.4 Million in 2011, so it is estimated that the deficit will be eliminated in 15 years. For those who are interested in further details, the entire document is available on the web.

14% of the cost is paramedical
16% other

Usage

Pensioners 26% (drugs are often covered by the Government)

PENSION PLAN RESTATEMENT
The Pension Plan’s wording has been updated to take into consideration all of the 18 amendments from over the past years. This document was to be presented at the May 13 P&B Committee.

After six years as your representative on the P&B Committee, my term of office is now over. The P&B Committee experience was rewarding and very educational. I was privileged to be part of this very collegial group of individuals who comprised the Committee. I wish my successor Jim Brox all the best and hope that he, like I have, enjoys the experience.

MEMBERSHIP IN UWRA

The bylaws of UWRA defines membership as follows:

Categories of membership:
1. Annual Subscribing Members (ASM) – those retirees who pay the annual fee (currently $10).
2. Lifetime Subscribing Members (LSM) – those retirees who pay the lifetime fee (currently $100).
3. Associate Members (AM) – those retirees who elect not to pay either the annual or lifetime fee.

What is your membership status?
The line above your name, in the mailing address printed below, shows the status of your membership: for example, DEC2009 indicates that you are an ASM with your fee paid up to that date. LIFE2004 shows that you became an LSM in 2004, while an empty space reveals that you are an AM of UWRA.

To become a Life or Annual subscribing member, or to renew an annual membership, please complete the form below. This application form is printed in each issue of WATtimes as a reminder to members, and is not intended to suggest that paid up members are in arrears. On those occasions when paid up members send in an extra payment, it is our custom to extend the expiry date by one year.

Please note: Changes of address should be sent directly to Wanda Speek in Human Resources, GSC, Room 130.
