WELCOME

Welcome to the School of Social Work at Renison University College, affiliated with the Faculty of Health, University of Waterloo. We hope that this will be a valuable and rewarding educational experience for you. Our Master of Social Work (MSW) program provides a strong grounding in academic and field learning.

This Student Handbook provides you with a guide to the resources, governance structure, policies, and procedures of the School of Social Work, as well as those of Renison University College and the University of Waterloo that pertain to our MSW Program. Please read it carefully to ensure you have a thorough understanding.

The School of Social Work's MSW Program will prepare students for advanced social work practice in a range of settings related to health and wellbeing, including public health and health promotion programs, primary care and long-term care, hospitals, health-related governmental agencies, community-based health services, health advocacy groups and others. Practicing in this field involves working with individuals, families, groups, communities, and organizations on issues related to health equity, well-being, and social justice, social and/or political determinants of health, health promotion and disease prevention, mental health and substance use, health education, clinical treatment and rehabilitation, community building and partnership development, inter-professional collaboration, and social support, and/or health reform. Our program encompasses a holistic view of health incorporating the political, environmental, psychosocial, biological, cultural, and spiritual determinants of health in social work practice.

As a long-standing online MSW program we are 'at the ready' to respond to our current realities with our well-established, health-focused online courses. The pedagogy we use to deliver the program's content has been recognized by the University of Waterloo as innovative and inspiring. Our content modules examine health in its broadest form preparing our graduates for leadership practice in healthcare.

Thank you for inviting us to be part of your academic and professional social work journey. We are looking forward to having you join our community. On behalf of the School of Social Work, we wish you every success!

Trish Van Katwyk

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK

Territorial Acknowledgment

The School of Social Work acknowledges with gratitude that our work is on the traditional territory of the Anishinaabeg, Hodinohsyó:ni, and Attawandaran (Neutral) Peoples. Renison University College and the University of Waterloo are situated on the Haldimand Tract, the land granted to the Six Nations that includes ten kilometers on each side of the Grand River from mouth to source. Our active work toward reconciliation takes place in all corners of our campus through research, learning, teaching, community building and outreach.

[We encourage you to reflect on the truth about colonial oppression and your reconciliation commitment. Explore the land you live on through these sites: <https://www.whose.land/en/> and <https://native-land.ca/>]

Mission of the School of Social Work

The School of Social Work prepares social work practitioners through an accessible and inclusive curriculum, at both baccalaureate and master's levels, in a learning environment that fosters caring and ethical social work practice within a local and global context. The School is committed to positive social change through the principles of justice, equity, and respect for diversity.

MSW Statement of Educational Philosophy

The Master of Social Work program offered through the School of Social Work at Renison University College, affiliated with the University of Waterloo, provides students with knowledge and skills in advanced social work practice within a focus on health, research/scholarship, professional leadership, and social work supervision. This degree program is delivered primarily online, with required on-campus summer institute, allowing students to continue to work and participate in family and community life while pursuing a post-graduate degree in social work. The MSW program offers a rich and highly interactive learning environment.

MSW Learning Outcomes

1. Explain and demonstrate advanced critical understanding of diverse theoretical frameworks and worldviews on health in a variety of health-focused practice contexts.
2. Apply an understanding of the social and structural determinants of health, including colonialism, in relation to individual, community, and global well-being.
3. Explain and demonstrate advanced critical understanding of the colonial roots of health disparities and inequities for Indigenous Peoples and communities.
4. Exhibit advanced knowledge and skills for a value-based and holistic critical social work practice through a range of methods and approaches.

5. Integrate theory with practice in health-related professional settings and demonstrate advanced proficiency in this integration.
6. Convey advanced knowledge of the Social Work Code of Ethics and principles of practice, including their limitations with respect to anti-oppressive and anti-racist approaches to practice.
7. Demonstrate advanced understanding of socially-just, ethically, and culturally accountable social work.
8. Exemplify values of equity, inclusion, diversity, accessibility, and social justice.
9. Exhibit ability to form, maintain, repair, and end relationships, recognizing and respecting diverse knowledges, perspectives, and lived experiences.
10. Engage in action-oriented critical reflection, communication and interpersonal skills needed for discussions and action about colonization, racism, anti-Black racism, anti-Indigenous racism, homophobia, transphobia, ableism, sanism, ageism, and classism, among other forms of discrimination.
11. Identify social work's unique commitment in interprofessional health settings to address structural sources of injustice and inequity as they relate to health and health services access.
12. Display the capacity for professional leadership and development in health-related social work practice, including social imagination, creative, innovative, alternative, unique responses to practice contexts and issues.
13. Demonstrate critical research skills, including knowledge synthesis and mobilization and the ability to apply research to social work practice.

History of the School of Social Work

The School of Social Work at Renison University College, affiliated with the University of Waterloo, is distinguished by a strong academic program as well as a skills-oriented, value-based approach to social work practice. The goal is to prepare students through theory and practice opportunities to enhance the quality of life of individuals and communities and promote positive social change through the principles of justice, equity, and respect for diversity.

The School started with the establishment of the Honours Bachelor of Social Work (BSW) program in 1997 as a post-degree professional program. The former Department of Social Work was given the designation of School of Social Work in March 2004. A Part-time BSW Program was launched in September 2004 to address the demand for greater accessibility to professional studies from many university graduates already working in social services.

The School of Social Work's MSW Program started in 2012 to prepare students for advanced social work practice in a range of settings related to health, including public health and health promotion programs, primary care and long-term care, hospitals, health-related governmental agencies, community-based health services, and health advocacy groups. Practicing in this field involves working with individuals, families, groups, communities, and organizations on issues related to health equity, wellbeing and social justice, social determinants of health, health promotion and disease prevention, mental health and substance use, health education, clinical treatment and rehabilitation, community building and partnership development, inter-professional collaboration, and social support, and/or health reform. The program and its courses assume a holistic view of health that incorporates the political, environmental, psychosocial, biological, and spiritual determinants of health in social work practice.

Renison's Master of Social Work program, affiliated with the Faculty of Health at the University of Waterloo, is an accredited program with the Canadian Association for Social Work Education (CASWE). The program was granted its Pre-Accreditation status in February 2013 and received its First Accreditation in early 2016 meeting accreditation standards and expectations. The Master of Social Work's (MSW) health-focused program was designed to be delivered primarily online with two Summer Institutes, one on-campus and the other in a condensed online format in an effort to increase access to higher learning and provide a platform for social work professionals to reflect and advance their skills in responding to more complex social and health realities and the increasing diversity in their communities.

Renison's MSW graduates are employed across Canada and internationally. MSW graduates work in a variety of practice settings, including but not limited to schools, hospitals, mental health clinics, older adults' centers, government agencies, child welfare organizations, criminal justice institutions, private practices, military units and in numerous public and private organizations.

Our Culture of Respect and Professional Integrity

Consistent with the mission, values and policies of Renison University College and the University of Waterloo, the School of Social Work promotes a culture of respect based on equitable, inclusive, and decolonizing approaches among students, staff and faculty. As a professional program, we view all aspects of the learning environment as contributing to the education of social workers for all levels of social work practice, characterized by competence, quality, and ethical commitment to the principles of social justice.

Attendance during courses, at field placements, and meetings is viewed as a professional responsibility. We count on each other to keep appointments, to be on time for classes, whether on campus or designated online times, to be respectful in listening to diverse worldviews, and to be clear, timely, and sensitive in communications. The School of Social Work's mission statement provides further insight into our values as an academic and professional setting. When applicable, students who choose to participate in the governance of the School of Social Work and Renison University College are expected to fulfill their commitments and be accountable for their involvement. When students cannot keep their commitments or need accommodation, we expect timely notification and, in some instances, documentation.

Active learning engagement and being accountable in meeting academic responsibilities demonstrate professional integrity. We recognize that all members of our learning community have varying life demands that require their time commitments. Learning modalities within the program such as online, in-person or hybrid may vary in preparatory and transition times, but they demand equivalent study time commitments. We count on students to allocate ample time towards their MSW studies and respectfully spend their own and others' time resource wisely.

The School of Social Work's Professional Conduct Policy is included in this student handbook and in all course outlines.

Students are advised to be aware of and abide by the University of Waterloo's Policies, Procedures and Guidelines.

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/secretariat/policies-procedures-guidelines>

Students should read, be familiar with and adhere to the Canadian Association of Social Workers (CASW) Code of Ethics, Values and Guiding Principles (2024). These ethical principles and standards of conduct set out the collective responsibility for professional competence. If students have any questions they should connect with the School administrators, faculty, field education staff or contact the CASW directly.

MSW GRADUATE PROGRAM

Program Requirements

Completion of MSW degree requirements entails one year of Full-Time studies (3 terms) or two years of Part-Time studies (6 terms).

The Master of Social Work (MSW) program is a course-based curriculum which includes eight courses, and two milestones as follows:

- Six core courses. Two of these mandatory courses are offered as intensive Summer Institutes typically held in August. The beginning Summer Institute for new students is offered as a 5-day, on-campus course with pre- and post-course activities. The final Summer Institute for graduating students is offered as a three-week long intensive, online course with synchronous/live components in the second week. The remaining four core courses are completed as 12-week online asynchronous courses.
- Two online elective courses. Elective courses are typically offered in fall and spring terms. Full time students complete these courses in one year and part time students take one elective course per academic year.
- Two Milestones. The Practicum milestone entails completion of 462 placement hours in an approved setting. The Master's Integration Seminar and Capstone is delivered online. The milestone's integration seminar activities are to be undertaken concurrently with the practicum. The milestone's capstone component includes a creative project and a digital presentation completed in the final term of the MSW program.

All graduate students are expected to complete the Graduate Academic Integrity Module \(Grad AIM\) at the beginning of their program to bring all students up to speed on academic integrity expectations at the University of Waterloo. There is no thesis option in the program. This program meets all University of Waterloo post-graduate degree requirements.

All students in the Full-Time and Part-Time MSW degree must complete all credits at a minimum 75% overall average including the core, elective, and milestone credits required to graduate from the program. Upon successful program completion, students will graduate with a highly respected degree from the University of Waterloo under the Faculty of Health.

* Summer Institutes: SWK 600 - on-campus, intensive course in August at the start of the program with pre-and post-course activities; SWK 603 - online, 3-week intensive course in August at the end of the program, with synchronous components in Week 2.

Notes about Elective Courses:

Students cannot take BOTH SWK 609R and SWK 610R – they are anti-requisites to each other (SWK 610R will not be offered in AY 2024-25). Due to space considerations, part time students can only take one elective per academic year.

Summer Institutes

The Summer Institutes, which occur in an intensive format at the beginning and end of the program, each comprises two components: orientation and community building experience and an intensive course. The first institute covers the intensive course SWK 600R, Health, Equity and Social Justice and the second institute covers SWK 603R: Social Work Leadership in Health Care.

SWK 600R Health, Equity and Social Justice

This course explores health inequity within a Canadian context. It engages critical debates on key concepts related to health inequity including diversity, equity, access, and inclusion. The ultimate goal of this examination is to support students' understanding of the social and structural determinants of health and the ways in which uneven access to these determinants are implicated in health inequities for equity-seeking groups, and consequently, social injustice. The course centers the learner as a pivotal agent in changing social structures that sustain health inequities. (Note: This is an intensive on campus course with an online component).

SWK 601R Health Policy

This course offers a critical analysis of health policy formulation, implementation, and evaluation related to population health initiatives and health care delivery. The course includes discussion of the role of various regional, provincial, and national agencies in health care policy formation. It examines various health care systems and their funding as well as investigates how the Canadian healthcare system compares with systems in other countries. (Note: This is an online, asynchronous course.)

SWK 602R Social Work Practice in Health

This course examines practice models and multi-level methods of intervention for effective social work practice in health care, including health promotion, disease prevention, assessment treatment, rehabilitation, continuing care, and discharge planning within the context of social, economic, environmental, and cultural variations. The distribution and determinants, as well as psychological and behavioural aspects of health and disease across the life span are addressed. Practice models incorporate competence and empowerment as central themes. Different practice models of care are explored within the context of socio-cultural factors that inform health and well-being. Differences between the concepts of illness and disease are explored within the healthcare narrative. Resource allocation in the management of chronic and complex health conditions is examined, and interventions that support individual and family capacity to adapt to health crises or chronic health conditions are considered. (Note: This is an online, asynchronous course).

SWK 603R Social Work Leadership in Health Care

This course examines the theories and practice skills of effective social work leadership within health care contexts, social service organizations, and community service delivery systems. The effective and responsible use of human and material resources are emphasized through a social justice lens, while knowledge and skills for ethical and value-based leadership in staff management and organizational change processes, coordination of inter-professional teams, creating a positive organizational culture, and policies to address the social determinants of health are addressed.

Supervision will be examined as one form of leadership, where functions and skills of supervisory practice and the organizational contexts will be considered. Learners will be invited to critically examine and expand their own leadership style and skills via an inquiry-based approach, while developing foundational knowledge and skills for best practices in organizations. Development of styles of leadership, management and supervision that are respectful, reflective, and relational in nature are encouraged. (Note: This is an intensive, three-week online course with synchronous components in the second week).

SWK 606R: Advanced Social Work Research

The goal of this course is to deepen students' knowledge of the ways in which research can be produced, used, and disseminated in social work practice. The course will address research ethics, theories, and methods, and examine how different approaches can influence relationships and practices across community and healthcare settings. Students will develop their abilities to assess existing research studies and will explore how they can engage in new research as social workers. Activities include literature reviews, interviews, surveys, and knowledge dissemination strategies. Particular attention will be paid to program evaluation and knowledge mobilization, and to how these may be used to improve services and further social justice in students' own organizations and communities. (Note: This is an online, asynchronous course.)

SWK 608R Health Issues and Ethics

This course considers the nature of health itself and explores the complexities of a health care system that corresponds with social work values and ethics while remaining sustainable. Three related themes serve as substrates for the semester: the nature of health, delivery of health care, and specific health experiences that are characterized by inequity, societal change, and/or a particular ethical dilemma. Issues such as how health and illness are defined, cultural safety, the roles of preventive and curative approaches, and the impacts and ethics of new technologies and societal change will be addressed. The course critiques public, private, and individualized models of health, focuses on community health care, and examines the particular challenges of marginalized communities. (Note: This is an online, asynchronous course).

SWK 609R Clinical Practice in Mental Health & Addictions

This course aims to equip students to provide sensitive and effective help to clients by presenting material concerning a range of mental health problems, assessment, and treatment. The course considers clinical social work approaches across the continuum of mental health and addiction. Attention is focused on how social workers assess, document, support and intervene with consideration of the client, their family and social environment. (Note: This is an online, asynchronous course). *Anti-requisite to SWK 610R: Substance Abuse and Chemical Dependency

SWK 610R Interprofessional Approaches to Substance Use and Misuse and Mental Health

This course serves as an overview of addiction, chemical abuse, and chemical dependency and how pharmacists can impact those affected. Topics include prevention, identification, treatment options, clinical aspects of treatment, and an understanding of support systems available for those in recovery. *(Note: This is an online, asynchronous course. This course will not be offered in AY 2024-25.) Anti-requisite to SWK 609R: Clinical Practice in Mental Health & Addictions.

SWK 651R Relational Practice with Families in Oncology

Students will explore a variety of key learning themes relevant to the interprofessional care of families. Themes that will be addressed include family theory, models of family & couple counseling (particularly from a systemic and strengths-based perspective), family assessment, therapeutic conversations, and interventions. Case examples will be drawn from the experience of families across the cancer illness trajectory, from diagnosis through to death and dying, bereavement and long-term survivorship. Small group work will allow student to develop a rich understanding of the cancer experience from the perspective of families, as well as competency in family assessment, intervention, interprofessional collaboration, and cultural safety. Attention to diversity will be integrated throughout the course. (Note: This is an online, asynchronous course.)

SWK 653R: Grief and Palliative Care

Grief is a part of the human experience that often occurs when a person dies. Social workers should be familiar with the concept for all aspects of practice. Palliative care is a model of health care for people with terminal illnesses, along with their families, in order to relieve suffering and improve quality of life. Palliative care is delivered by an interprofessional team which is most often comprised of medicine, nursing, social work and chaplaincy; other professions are often involved such as pharmacy, occupational therapy and others. This course addresses the social work role in grief and palliative care. (Note: This is an online, asynchronous course.)

SWK 654R: Indigenous Health and Social Justice

This interdisciplinary course is intended to engage and advance knowledge and practice in Indigenous health with a focus on social justice. Students will learn about health inequities that face First Nations, Métis, and Inuit Peoples in rural and urban contexts within Canada as well as Indigenous Peoples internationally who have been impacted by processes of colonization. The course will critically examine how health status indicators are measured and used as well as link determinants of Indigenous Peoples' health to historical and ongoing colonial priorities and practices. Some of the disparities in health and social issues, access to care, and systemic challenges including racism experienced by Indigenous Peoples in different regions and contexts will be shared as points for discussion. An intersectionality lens will be applied in consideration of the unique health experiences among Indigenous Peoples, including Indigenous women, youth, and Two Spirit people. Innovative approaches to healing and community-based ethical practices will also be profiled in social work and health care delivery, research, policy, and programming. The perspectives of Indigenous Peoples will be highlighted in this course, through a variety of readings, film and other arts-based narratives, including Indigenous scholars and community activists in the delivery and discussion of course materials. (Note: This is an online, asynchronous course.)

SWK 680R: Critical Topics in Social Work and Health

This is a multi-module course that introduces students to key topics in social work and health through a critical lens (e.g., gerontology, mental health, community health, etc.). Students have the option of choosing 3 modules (topics), each being 4-weeks in duration. The common theme across the modules is the critical theories that frame the examination of each module topic. Students will further develop understanding of critical theoretical frameworks and their application to contemporary health discourses and health services and systems. Each module will underscore how the critical framing of health discourses and health services and systems are engaged as a method of identifying and responding to health inequities and diverse understandings of health and illness. (Note: This is an online, asynchronous course).

These course descriptions may be found in the Graduate Studies Academic Calendar, Course Subject: Social Work \(SWK\)

MILESTONES

Graduate Studies Practicum

Students are assigned a community-based, health-related field practicum in an approved agency or organization. It is expected that the student will:

- demonstrate a growing capacity for professional development and critical reflection of their own practice;
- develop and demonstrate a meaningful relationship with the field setting and be willing to be open and constructively critical of social service conditions affecting clients, including both an understanding of policies and procedures and an ability to use these policies and procedures as well as the physical and human resources to benefit clients;
- demonstrate an ability to apply field instruction appropriately;
- demonstrate an ability to identify and describe the client population;
- organize and interpret information/data for assessment and prepare and execute an advanced plan for treatment and/or action including working with a client to develop short and long-term goals as well as strategies.

[Note: An online Integration Seminar via LEARN as a component of Master's Integration Seminar and Capstone milestone runs concurrently with the Practicum.]

Master's Integration Seminar and Capstone

The Master's Integration Seminar and Capstone milestone includes two inter-related components: 1) the Integration Seminar and 2) the Capstone. The Integration Seminar component is completed simultaneously with the Practicum, offering opportunity for guided critical reflection, drawing on Practicum experiences, other social work practice experiences, and course content to explore the integration of social work theories, frameworks, and approaches and field practice. The Capstone component is completed in the last term of the MSW program, engaging students in a creative and summative project to reflect their MSW learning journey. There are two components to the Capstone: 1) a creative project; and 2) a digitally recorded presentation. Both components of the Master's Integration Seminar and Capstone milestone are graded credit/no-credit and students must obtain a passing credit for both components.

FIELD EDUCATION

Field education is considered a central component of social work education because the integration of knowledge, values, and skills in the context of field education is a critical and distinctive aspect of social work education. The purpose of this degree requirement is to provide advanced level opportunities for development, integration, and strengthening of students' abilities through social work practice in a health-related program.

The Master of Social Work (MSW) field education program provides students with opportunities for:

- at least 462 practicum hours (at 2-3 consecutive 7-hour days per week for full time students and 2-5 days a week for part time students, within the agency's usual work hours) in an approved practicum in their own community or region (typically other than the student's place of employment), subject to the availability of suitable placement agencies/organizations and field instructors
- supervision from an agency-based field instructor qualified at the MSW level
- regular online Integration Seminar
- flexibility in the organization of practicum hours, depending upon the agreement of the agency/organization and program of study (part time or full time)

Field Education is comprised of the Graduate Studies Practicum milestone and the Integration Seminar component within the Master's Integration Seminar and Capstone milestone.

Full time students are expected to start their Practicum and Integration Seminar in September, during the fall term. New part time students are expected to start in the winter term of their first year and are encouraged to begin their practicum no later than January of their graduating year. The milestone requirements run year-round and completed by June in the student's graduating year.

Students are expected to set up their practicum months ahead of their scheduled program and proposed placement start times. A Field Education Coordinator offers students individualized attention to assist them in preparing for their practicum. Students have significant input into the planning process of their practicum - the type of setting they are placed in, the preferred geographic location, and the kinds of learning opportunities they will experience. Once they have started their practicum, the Field Education Coordinator remain engaged in the students' field learning to review their progress with the Field Instructor, discuss any concerns, and provide ongoing support to both the student and Field Instructor.

The location of the placement is determined through consultation and agreement between the student, the Field Education Coordinator of the School of Social Work, and the practicum agency/organization. Students are expected to proceed with their placement commitment upon acceptance, confirmation and approval of practicum offered by a placement agency. All placements must be approved by the Field Education Coordinator well in advance of the beginning of the practicum.

Field Instructor training and support are available through the CASWE-supported Online Field Instructor Course and through other professional development opportunities organized by the school and partners.

PROGRAM SCHEDULE

This section contains the schedules for full-time and part-time students in the program. The Full-Time program consists of three terms while the Part-Time program consists of six terms. Both programs start in August (fall term) and end in August (spring term). Practicum and Integration Seminar may look slightly different depending on availability of the agency/field instructor, and the number of days a student is in their placement per week.

The School expects active participation in professional and graduate level learning. Recognizing that students have many other life responsibilities, we encourage students to set realistic expectations and boundaries and allocate ample time for their MSW studies. Learning modalities within the program such as online, in-person or hybrid may vary in terms of preparatory and transition times, but they demand equivalent study time commitments.

Scheduling considerations include the beginning Summer Institute (5-day on-campus intensive with pre- and post-course activities, final Summer Institute (3-week online intensive course, with live/synchronous learning activities in Week 2), other academic courses (online, asynchronous, 8-12 hours per course/week), field practicum (462 hours), and Master's Integration Seminar and Capstone (2-4 hours/month).

Important dates, regulations and course descriptions are found in the Graduate Studies Academic Calendar.

Elective offering and schedules may change.

GRADUATE STUDIES AT UNIVERSITY OF WATERLOO

Graduate Studies at uWaterloo began in 1959 with a number of students doing graduate work in Mathematics. It was formally established in 1968. Today, over 5,000 graduate students are enrolled in over 190 master and doctoral degree programs at uWaterloo. Graduate Studies and Postdoctoral Affairs (GSPA) provides support to students, postdoctoral fellows, staff, and faculty who are engaged in graduate work and research at the University of Waterloo.

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/graduate-studies-postdoctoral-affairs/>

For additional information as a new graduate student, please visit:

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/graduate-studies-postdoctoral-affairs/new-students>

The MSW Program adheres to academic regulations administered through Graduate Studies and Postdoctoral Affairs (GSPA) as indicated in the Graduate Studies Academic Calendar. In accessing policies, regulations and services within the University, students should note that they are connected to the Faculty of Health with the School of Social Work as their Department/School and Master of Social Work as their program.

Enrolment Status

Please contact the MSW Program Manager if you need any academic advice or have any questions and concerns about your enrollment status, academic standing, and general program participation.

Proof of enrolment

Students can contact the Graduate Studies and Postdoctoral Affairs (GSPA) for a letter to confirm graduate program enrolment. Proof of enrollment may also be accessed through QUEST upon matriculation. See Graduate Studies Forms, Graduate Request for a Program Confirmation Letter:

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/the-centre/official-documents/proof-enrolment-request>

Continuous enrolment

As a graduate student working towards a degree, you must continue your registration, either active or inactive, in each term from the time of your admission until your degree completion. Full-time students are required to fulfill the residence requirement of three (3) active terms and part-time students must be active for six (6) terms. You are responsible for ensuring that you are enrolled in appropriate course/s and for arranging fees by the deadline each term.

Inactive Status and Voluntary Withdrawal from the MSW Program

On occasion, you may need to change your enrolment status. Any student who finds it necessary to withdraw from studies for a term (inactive status) or discontinue the MSW Program should discuss this with the MSW Program Manager.

A student who requests inactive status enrolment or who voluntarily withdraws from their academic program must complete and submit a Graduate Student Change of Enrolment Status/Voluntary Withdrawal Form to the MSW Program Manager.

You are responsible for ensuring that your status change is received well in advance of the Government Reporting date of the academic term that the request is intended for. (Confirm your status change, revised tuition assessment and financial aid (where applicable) by viewing your Quest account.)

This form, when signed by the School Director, Associate Dean (Graduate Studies) of the student's Faculty (Health) and the Graduate Studies and Postdoctoral Affairs, may entitle the student to a refund (if applicable).

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/graduate-studies-postdoctoral-affairs/current-students>

Re-Admission to the MSW Program

The University reserves the right to refuse admission to any candidate and to refuse re-admission if the student's previous progress has not been satisfactory. Students who re-apply to a program and are approved for re-admission will be required to register for a minimum of one full term, without tuition refund, to complete their program. The School will confirm any course credits upon the student's re-admission.

ONLINE LEARNING

Centre for Extended Learning (CEL)

The Centre for Extended Learning (CEL) supports the design, development, and delivery of the MSW Program, along with other online credit or non-credit courses or professional development initiatives in the University of Waterloo.

LEARN

CEL supports online classrooms through uWaterloo LEARN which is a web-based learning management system. uWaterloo LEARN connects instructors and students through course materials, activities and assessments that will facilitate students' professional growth.

The information contained in this student handbook is general information for graduate students of distance education programs. For complete and accurate course procedures for submission times, assignments, accommodations, etc., please see individual course syllabus.

If you require technical assistance, please contact the CEL Technical Support:
learnhelp@uwaterloo.ca tel: 519-888-4050 Website: <http://cel.uwaterloo.ca/>

Submission Times

Please be aware that the University of Waterloo is located in the Eastern Time Zone (GMT or UTC-5 during standard time and UTC-4 during daylight saving time) and, as such, the time that your activities and/or assignments are due is based on this zone. Please consider this as the default time zone unless explicitly advised otherwise by your instructors. If you are outside the Eastern Time Zone and require assistance with converting your time, please try the Ontario, Canada Time Converter.

Website: http://www.worldtimeserver.com/convert_time_in_CA-ON.aspx

Accommodation Due to Illness

If your instructor has provided specific procedures for you to follow if you miss assignment due dates, term tests, or a final examination, adhere to those instructions. Otherwise, the following will apply:

Missed Assignments

Contact the instructor as soon as you realize there will be a problem. Follow up as quickly as possible by having a medical practitioner complete a Verification of Illness Form. Send a scanned copy of the Verification of Illness Form by email to your instructor but please be aware that your instructor may require the original so do not lose or destroy it. In your email, provide your name, student ID number, and exactly what you missed. If your instructor agrees to re-open a time-limited component, technical support staff will require an email from the instructor granting permission to allow you access.

Please contact AccessAbility Services for accessibility needs and if you need to access the Graduate Student Medical Leave.

Attendance and Course Participation

Students' acceptance of admission is considered as their commitment to fully engage in their MSW studies, online (synchronously or asynchronously) and in-person as appropriate and in a timely manner. Students are expected to adhere to School and University policies and procedures including the following taken from the Professional Conduct Policy (see Academic Policies below):

Attendance is expected in all social work courses and in the practicum setting. The student must make every effort to inform the instructor as early as possible prior to any absence. In last minute circumstances (e.g. accident) the student must notify the instructor at the earliest possible time.

In order to support the student learning journey in the School of Social Work, students with any unexplained or unjustified absence will be informed of such, in writing, with the Director of the School of Social Work copied in. For professional clarity and consistent communication practices, any further absences will be documented in writing to the student with the Director of the School of Social Work copied in. The Director of the School of Social Work will follow up at their discretion.

Active learning engagement and being accountable in meeting academic responsibilities demonstrate professional integrity. We recognize that all members of our learning community have varying life demands that require their time commitments. Learning modalities within the program such as online, in-person or hybrid may vary in preparatory and transition times, but they demand equivalent study time commitments. We count on students to allocate ample time towards their MSW studies and respectfully and wisely spend their own and others' time resource.

Academic Integrity

A student is expected to know what constitutes academic integrity to avoid committing an academic offence, and to take responsibility for their actions. A student who is unsure whether an action constitutes an offence, or who needs help in learning how to avoid offences (e.g., plagiarism, cheating) or about "rules" for group work/collaboration should seek guidance from the course instructor, MSW Program Manager, School Director, or the Associate Dean, Graduate Studies, Faculty of Health. For information on categories of offences and types of penalties, students should refer to Policy 71, Student Discipline, (See also University Policies below.).

APA Style is commonly used in the MSW Program. A brief guide to avoid plagiarism and to practice writing ethically may be found here: <https://uwaterloo.ca/writing-and-communication-centre/resources-apa-style-citation>. Students are also advised to seek guidance from the Writing and Communication Centre to ensure the integrity of their academic work.

Final Grades/Milestone Credits

In accordance with Policy 46, the Centre for Extended Learning does not release final examination grades or final course grades to students. Students must go to Quest: <https://uwaterloo.ca/quest/> to see all final grades and graduate milestone credits (as applicable). Any grades posted in uWaterloo LEARN are unofficial.

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/secretariat/policies-procedures-guidelines/policy-46-information-management>

Use of Computing and Network Resources

Students are expected to adhere to the UW guidelines in the appropriate and ethical use of computing and network resources.

WatCard (UW Student ID)

All University of Waterloo Graduate Students are issued a WatCard.

WatCard is your one card to access many facilities and services both on and off campus, including computer labs, libraries, food, photocopying, and Physical Activities Complex access.

The process for Online students to request a WatCard is explained here: <https://uwaterloo.ca/watcard/watcard-online-students>

QUEST

Quest is the University of Waterloo's online student information system. It is a self-service tool giving you access to your Waterloo record. You will visit this website often, and you may choose to add it to your 'Favorites' toolbar.

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/quest/>

If you have trouble with your Quest account or forgot your Quest/UW password:

- Call 519-888-4357 (off campus)
- Email: helpdesk@uwaterloo.ca
- Chat online: <https://uwaterloo.ca/information-systems-technology/help>

Student Accounts and Fees

Fee schedules are typically published shortly before the start of each term. Please use the most recent fee schedule to estimate fees for future terms. Annual tuition increases are generally effective with the Spring term. Tuition fees are charged by the term in line with the residence requirements and not by the number of courses or milestones enrolled in each term.

Fees are posted to individual student accounts on Quest approximately three to five weeks prior to the start of classes each term. Students are notified by e-mail at that time.

Late payment and access to courses/services: The University requires timely arrangement of fees. Late or non-payment of fees will lead to removal of student access to LEARN and other services. Reinstatement of access necessitates submission of course add form and approval by the School Director and Associate Dean of Graduate Studies, Faculty. Please contact the MSW Program Manager if your course access has been removed.

Some practicum agencies may require administrative or related fees. Students need to pay these fees to either the agency or Renison Accounting Office.

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/finance/student-financial-services/tuition-fee-schedules>

Incidental Fees: Students Services are non-refundable. The Graduate Studies Endowment Fund (GSEF) is refundable, and students must request the refund within the first three weeks of the term. Students can request the GSEF refund by submitting their request online via the link at: <https://uwaterloo.ca/graduate-student-association/>

Student Health Plan

Students registered in online programs like the MSW program are NOT eligible for coverage in the Student Extended Health and Dental Insurance Plans which is administered by the Graduate Students Association's (GSA). Related fees will not be charged to MSW students.

Income Tax Receipts

For information regarding finance or finance related questions, please visit:

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/finance/student-financial-services/tax-documents>

GRADUATION AND CONVOCATION

All graduate students who expect to receive degrees at either the Spring (June) or Fall (October) Convocations must submit an 'Apply for Graduation' form, online, using Quest.

This self-serve feature is available on desktop and mobile devices. Login to Quest and navigate to My Academics, Graduation, and select Apply for Graduation for the next convocation.

The deadlines for submission of the forms are April 30th for Spring Convocation and August 31st for Fall Convocation. Forms must be submitted during your final active term. Students are encouraged to submit the form a couple of months before the due date. MSW students who follow the regular program schedule will complete the program requirements at the end of the spring term and are expected to graduate in the Fall.

Website: Graduate Studies Graduation and Convocation

It should be noted that the name printed on the degree diploma will be the student's name as recorded on the student's academic record. Those who specify a name which differs from that on current academic records must supply official name change documentation to the Graduate Studies and Postdoctoral Affairs. Graduates who are unable to attend convocation will have their diplomas mailed to them by the Graduate Studies and Postdoctoral Affairs.

Eligibility to Graduate

Students are eligible to receive their degree at convocation provided they have successfully completed the academic requirements for their degree. It is the student's responsibility to ensure degree requirements are met. Please contact the MSW Program Manager for academic advice and/if you have any questions about your academic standing during the program or prior to program completion.

MSW Degree Status Designation

Students earn their MSW degree and can use this status upon receipt of their graduation diploma. It is a matter of academic integrity that students, both current and former, correctly represent their degree program status and credentials. You may be able to request an 'early diploma' if you meet certain criteria. Find out more about request for early diploma or for more information visit:

Parking at Renison University College

Parking at Renison University College requires $7.00 (Credit card) per entry. Public buses are routed on Ring Road. See the Main Campus map.

Religious Holidays/Examination Schedule

Renison University College acknowledges that, due to the pluralistic nature of the University community, some students may on religious grounds require alternative times to write examinations and tests. Accordingly, a student who requires an alternative examination or test time on religious grounds should consult with the Director of the School of Social Work regarding alternative arrangements. Such a request should be made within one week of the announcement of the test or examination date. Students who require alternate arrangements for assignments or examinations are encouraged to contact the AccessAbility Services.

Website: <https://uwaterloo.ca/accessability-services/>

Students should discuss any particular learning needs they may have with the instructor at the beginning of the term.

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK ACADEMIC POLICIES

Professional Conduct Policy

Preamble

The School of Social Work adheres to the Canadian Association for Social Work Education's (CASWE-ACFTS) Accreditation Standards. In abiding by the standards of the national governing body, CASWE-ACFTS, the School of Social Work provides students and the surrounding communities a measure of confidence regarding competent, well-prepared professional social workers at the undergraduate and graduate levels.

The School of Social Work is eager to support a learning community that is built upon relationships that foster respect and inspiration. When we consider professional relations, we focus specifically on the manner in which we share and contribute to the ample learning opportunities that are available during this program where practice meets theory. Therefore, classroom and practicum presence are significant. Together, we can support meaningful and inspiring learning opportunities in the context of meaningful and inspiring relationships.

The School of Social Work and the agencies providing field education share in the responsibility to assist students to develop the skills to conduct themselves in a professional manner both in the classroom and in the field. Therefore, faculty and field representatives have responsibility for the assessment of professional conduct.

Policy Statement

The School of Social Work sets expectations of students' conduct consistent with the expectations of professional conduct for practicing social workers. Based upon CASW Code of Ethics as well as workplace ethics, the student is expected to demonstrate commitment to their social work education as well as honesty, responsibility, reliability and courtesy. Communication is the foundation of professional conduct.

Procedural Guidelines

The student is expected to focus their attention on the class and/or instruction being provided.

Use of a personal computer or phone for reasons unrelated to course content, is not acceptable.

Attendance is expected in all social work courses and in the practicum setting. The student must make every effort to inform the instructor as early as possible prior to any absence. In last minute circumstances (e.g. accident) the student must notify the instructor at the earliest possible time.

In order to support the student learning journey in the School of Social Work, students with any unexplained or unjustified absence will be informed of such, in writing, with the Director of the School of Social Work copied in. For professional clarity and consistent communication practices, any further absences will be documented in writing to the student with the Director of the School of Social Work copied in. The Director of the School of Social Work will follow up at their discretion.

Updated October 2014

Policy for Assessing Conduct of Students in the School of Social Work

Preamble

The academic unit has a policy requiring that the performance of professional responsibilities of social work students be in accordance with the relevant social work codes of ethics.

“The academic unit describes how it informs students, faculty members, field education personnel, sessional instructors, and professional and administrative staff of existing academic unit and university policies and procedures including but not limited to accessibility; assessment; appeals; codes of conduct; confidentiality; data storage; disability accommodation; equity; harassment; liability coverage; professional readiness ; and use of social media” (CASWE Standards for Accreditation, 2021, SB/M 1.3.2 p.6).

This policy pertains to professional conduct and applies to any social work course or related learning environment including the practicum within the Social Work Program. It is an attempt to balance the commitment of the School of Social Work to support and assist students in becoming professional social workers, with the need to protect the safety and well-being of all students, staff and faculty as well as vulnerable individuals, families, groups and communities.

Policy Statement

The School of Social Work holds the expectation that its students will adhere to recognized ethical obligations and professional standards including but not limited to the CASW Code of Ethics, Values and Guiding Principles (2024), and/or the Code of Ethics of the provincial social work association/college in which the practicum takes place including the Social Work Code of Ethics and Standards of Practice adopted by the Ontario College of Social Workers and Social Service Workers. The School has an obligation to take action when a student acts in an unethical or unprofessional manner.

The purpose of this policy is to provide examples of conduct that may require a review and to provide guidelines for a process of review. The School of Social Work will undertake to resolve any concerns in a fair, timely, reasonable, and effective manner.

Guidelines

It is important that students review and become familiar with:

- The Canadian Association of Social Workers' Code of Ethics, Values and Guiding Principles
- The Code of Ethics and Standards of Practice provided by the Regulatory/Governing bodies in the student's province or territory
- The Academic Policies, Procedures and Regulations, School of Social Work, Renison University College and the University of Waterloo
- The policies, regulations and procedures of the field placement agency

The major values and principles as included in the Social Work Code of Ethics (2024) that guide professional social work practice are:

- Respecting the Dignity and Worth of All People
- Promoting Social Justice
- Pursuing Truth and Reconciliation
- Valuing Human Relationships
- Preserving Integrity in Professional Practice
- Maintaining Privacy and Confidentiality
- Providing Competent Professional Services

Limits of Confidentiality

The School of Social Work recognizes that the safety and confidentiality of students or others who have been subject to unprofessional conduct under this Policy must be an important priority. The School of Social Work must balance the need for confidentiality against its duty to protect present and future students or persons who might otherwise be placed in jeopardy by a student who is acting in an unprofessional or unethical manner under this Policy. Information disclosed during meetings with instructors, Field Education Coordinators, and field instructors, or Program Manager/s and the School Director will not be kept confidential if the information raises concerns about the student's capability of assuming the professional responsibilities of social work practice.

Instructors, Field Education Coordinators, Program Managers and the School Director will share pertinent information with each other in a respectful and professional manner, for the purpose of identifying student issues and enhancing problem solving about the concerns. The School of Social Work reserves the right to share information with the University or third parties as required by law and University regulations.

Criteria for Assessment

Offences include but are not limited to the following:

- a) Concealment of relevant information or providing false information on the Application for Admission to the School of Social Work, Renison University College, University of Waterloo;
- b) Persistent and/or serious breaches of the CASW Code of Ethics (2024) including, but not limited to:
 - Evidence that a student cannot effectively exercise judgment or function effectively within a professional social work context;
 - Persistent substance abuse (e.g., alcoholism, drug addiction, use of illegal drugs) that interferes with one's ability to function within a professional social work context;
 - Charges or convictions of a criminal offense involving violent or abusive behaviour (e.g. physical assault, sexual assault);
- c) Persistent and/or serious conduct that contravenes the policies of the field practicum setting;
- d) Speech or behaviour that contravenes the provisions of the Ontario Human Rights Code (e.g.: discrimination or harassment because of race, ancestry, place of origin, colour, ethnic origin, citizenship, creed, sex, sexual orientation, religion, marital status, gender, age, socio-economic status, political affiliation, disability or diagnosis) that may interfere with the provision of professional services to the client or with the provision and maintenance of an environment conducive to learning;
- e) Persistent and/or serious inability to form a professional, helping relationship.

Procedural Guidelines

Policy 71- Student Discipline will inform and guide the procedures when concerns are identified regarding the professional suitability of a student in the School of Social Work.

Sharing of Information Policy

Preamble

The School of Social Work and the agencies providing field instruction share responsibility for the education of the students in the School of Social Work. An important aspect of this collaboration is the sharing of information about student performance in the practicum.

Policy Statement

Personal information that you provide to Renison University College may be used and disclosed as necessary for official college purposes and will be used to carry out college practices or policy, including the coordination of activities that are part of your classroom and field education. Your personal information is only shared within the college or university on a need-to-know basis to university officers, employees or instructors, including field instructors, who need the information in the performance of their duties and for the proper discharge of college functions.

Guidelines for Sharing of Information

Sharing information may be for the purpose of:

- facilitating classroom or field education experiences for you while in the program
- mobilizing appropriate resources to support your success in the program
- evaluating your progress in the program
- providing letters of reference

Use of Agency Material in the Classroom Policy

Preamble

To facilitate the integration of theory and practice, students may be using examples from their field practice in the classroom or in written assignments. The types of material that may be used could include, but is not limited to, social histories, case plans, video or audio tapes, and process recordings.

The following section in the CASW Code of Ethics (2024) applies to social work educators, practitioners and students:

“Social workers demonstrate respect for the trust and confidence placed in them by service users, members of the public, and other professionals by considering their values and beliefs related to privacy and confidentiality and by respecting their right to control whether or when their information will be shared with third parties. Social workers protect confidentiality across all manner of service provision or communication in all settings and social media environments” (6.1).”

Policy Statement

Students and faculty of the School of Social adhere to the CASW Code of Ethics (2024) regarding maintaining privacy and confidentiality.

Guidelines for Use of Agency Information in the Classroom

In order to ensure that confidentiality is maintained when agency material is used in the classroom:

- Precaution must be undertaken and indicated to preserve confidentiality such as changing names and other identifying data.
- If the agency also has guidelines, select the strictest ones to guide in the preserving of confidentiality.
- Share knowledge with the client regarding how the information is recorded and to be used. It shall not be used in an unethical manner or without the knowledge and consent of the client for purposes other than agreed upon by written consent.
- The client, and agency or Field Instructor must also give consent for materials to be used for classroom purposes.
- Material and recording are the property of the agency and should not be retained or copied by the student or faculty. Dating materials with a time limited consent should be considered.
- All video and audio taped material must have the client's written permission. Special consideration needs to be taken for concealment of client identity in the use of video recordings.

Social Media Policy

Preamble

The academic unit describes how it informs students, faculty members, field education personnel, sessional instructors, and professional and administrative staff of existing academic unit and university policies and procedures including but not limited to accessibility; assessment; appeals; codes of conduct; confidentiality; data storage; disability accommodation; equity; harassment; liability coverage; professional readiness and suitability; and use of social media.(CASWE Standards of Accreditation, March 2021)

With more and more social workers embracing social networking sites such as Facebook, LinkedIn and Twitter, the question arises — where do you draw the line in terms of boundaries with your clients or other professional relationships?

The rapidly changing world of social media has exceeded our ability to understand the impact that these forms of communication may have in the world. As professional social workers increasingly use social media, we need to establish guidelines that protect us and those with whom we work from potential negative consequences consistent with the CASW Code of Ethics (2024).

The CASW Code of Ethics (2005) outlines the core social work values as:

- Respecting the Dignity and Worth of All People
- Promoting Social Justice
- Pursuing Truth and Reconciliation

- Valuing Human Relationships
- Preserving Integrity in Professional Practice
- Maintaining Privacy and Confidentiality
- Providing Competent Professional Services

Policy Statement

The School of Social Work recognizes the importance of the internet and is committed to supporting your right to interact knowledgeably and socially on the internet through interaction in social media. The School of Social Work strives to provide its members with an environment of free inquiry and expression. Freedom of expression and academic freedom in electronic format have the same latitude as in printed or oral communication.

Members of the School of Social Work community are responsible and accountable for their actions and statements. The use of unfounded or derogatory statements or misrepresentation is not viewed favorably by the School of Social Work or your practicum agency and can result in disciplinary action.

Guidelines for Interactions about the School of Social Work and Your Practicum on the Internet

These guidelines in this social media policy will help you make appropriate decisions about your school and practicum-related online exchanges. They will help you open up respectful, knowledgeable interactions with people on the internet. The guidelines also protect the privacy, confidentiality, and interests of the School of Social Work and your practicum, including colleagues, employees and clients. Note that these policies and guidelines apply to school and practicum-related sites and issues and are not meant to infringe upon your personal interaction or commentary online. As professional social workers however, it is our responsibility to understand and live by the Code of Ethics consistently.

- Students may approach field instructors, faculty, or staff to connect on professional social media sites.
- If you are developing a website, social networking group or writing a blog that will mention the School of Social Work, your practicum and / or their employees or clients, identify that you are a student and that the views expressed on the blog or website are yours alone and do not represent the views of the School of Social Work and/or practicum agency.
- Unless given permission in writing by either the School of Social Work or your practicum supervisor, you are not authorized to speak on behalf of either the School of Social Work or your practicum agency.
- If you are developing a site, group or writing a blog that will mention the School of Social Work, your practicum and / or their employees or clients, as a courtesy to the School and/or agency, please let the School of Social Work and/or your practicum supervisor know that you are writing them – and you should clearly state your goals and what your social medium intends to say or reflect. Representatives of the School of Social Work and/or your practicum supervisor may choose to visit from time to time to understand your point of view.

Confidential Information Component of the Social Media Policy

You may not share information that is confidential about the School of Social Work, your practicum setting and/or clients and colleagues.

If you have any questions about whether information has been released publicly or doubts of any kind, speak with the Director of the School of Social Work, the MSW Program Manager, the Field Education Coordinator or your Field Instructor before releasing information that could potentially harm the School of Social Work, your practicum and / or their employees or clients.

Respect and Privacy Rights

Speak respectfully about the School of Social Work, your practicum and / or their employees or clients. Do not engage in name calling or behavior that will reflect negatively on the School of Social Work or your practicum's reputation.

The School of Social Work encourages you to write knowledgeably and accurately, using appropriate professionalism. Despite disclaimers, your Web interaction can result in members of the public forming opinions about the School of Social Work, your practicum and / or their employees or clients.

Photographs

Taking and sharing photographs without consent is a breach of confidentiality. Agencies increasingly use photography for professional consultation, research and education purposes. Know your agency's policy regarding photography including any limitations on its use.

Legal Liability

Recognize that you are legally liable for anything you write or present online. It must be noted that anything published on the web is NOT confidential. Students can be disciplined by the School of Social Work for commentary, content, or images that are defamatory, pornographic, proprietary, harassing, libelous, or that can create a hostile work environment. You can also be sued by any individual or organization that views your commentary, content, or images as defamatory, pornographic, proprietary, harassing, libelous or creating a hostile work environment.

Guidelines for Interactions with Clients (Past and Present) on the Internet

- Do not "friend" your clients (current or past) and do not allow your clients (current or past) to "friend" you.
- Do not use messaging on websites such as Twitter, Facebook, and LinkedIn to contact your clients or respond to clients who may have contacted you. These sites are not secure.
- Become intimately familiar with the privacy controls on these networks and ensure that the general public cannot see personal details of your life you would prefer to share only with your immediate friends and family.

- Only use your professional (work/practicum) email address to communicate with clients.
- All email communication with clients should be of a professional nature and not involve personal discussions and/or disclosures of any kind.
- Do not discuss details of your work with clients.
- If you choose to communicate with your clients by email, please be aware that all emails are retained in the logs of your and their Internet service providers. While it is unlikely that someone will be looking at these logs, they are, in theory, available to be read by the system administrator(s) of the Internet service provider.

Tips for Responding to Social Media Requests from Clients

Here are examples of what you can say to clients who request or attempt to contact you through any form of social media:

Friending

“I do not accept friend requests from current or former clients. This holds true on all social networking sites. My reasons for this are that I believe that adding clients as friends on these websites can compromise confidentiality and blur the boundaries of our working relationship. If you have questions about this, please feel free to bring them up when we meet, and I will be happy to talk more about it.”

Interacting

“Please do not use messaging on websites such as Twitter, Facebook, and LinkedIn to contact me. These sites are not secure, and I may not read these messages in a timely fashion. If you need to contact me, please use the system outlined in our first meeting.”

Email

“I prefer to use email only to arrange or modify appointments. Please do not use email to send content related to our work together, as email is not completely secure or confidential. If you choose to communicate with me by email, please be aware that all emails are retained in the logs of your and my Internet service providers. While it is unlikely that someone will be looking at these logs, they are, in theory, available to be read by the system administrator(s) of the Internet service provider. You should also know that any email I receive from you and any responses that I send to you will be printed out by me and kept in your file.”

Consequences

The use of unfounded or derogatory statements or misrepresentation of the School of Social Work, faculty, staff, colleagues, clients or fellow students can result in disciplinary action.

Policy 71- Student Discipline will inform and guide the procedures when concerns are identified.

(Approved May 2011; Updated May 2015; Administrative Update April 2024))

Petitions, Grievances, Appeals

The School of Social Work and Renison University College are committed to the view that when a problem or disagreement arises between a faculty member and a student every effort should be made to resolve the problem through mutual and respectful negotiation. Most issues are resolved by a student/faculty meeting to discuss differences of opinion. It is only after this stage that a student initiates a grievance.

RENISON UNIVERSITY COLLEGE POLICIES

Harassment and Discrimination Policy

Renison University College has developed a policy on Harassment and Discrimination, which is consistent with university-wide practice. This document fully outlines the philosophy, principles and procedures related to harassment and discrimination as they affect the Renison University College community, which includes practicum students and can be found online:

<https://uwaterloo.ca/renison/current-students/harassment-and-discrimination>

Specific procedures have been adopted that students can follow if an incident occurs during their practicum.

Renison University College cannot legally bind its practicum agencies to its harassment and discrimination policy. However, practicum agencies and the School of Social Work acknowledge a shared responsibility to work together regarding the field education of students.

Specific Procedures for the Student Experiencing Harassment or Discrimination during their practicum:

- The student should document the experience immediately. Documentation should include such information as the date(s) and place(s) the incident(s) occurred, a description of the actual harassment experience(s), any earlier related incidents, discussions, observations made by others, etc. and the personal impact of the experience.
- The student should consult the harassment and discrimination policy of their practicum agency.
- In the absence of a harassment and discrimination policy at the agency, the student may consult the Renison University College policy.
- Students are encouraged to seek support from someone at the School of Social Work whom they trust and who can provide support and guidance. This individual could be the Field Education Coordinator, the Instructor of the Integration Seminar or the MSW Program Manager.
- At any point in the process, the student may decide to pursue the complaint through the Human Rights Commission, the Social Work Regulatory/Governing Bodies in your Province or Territory, or the courts.

If a concern arises, students can speak with the MSW Program Manager or contact Renison's Harassment and Discrimination Committee or Harassment and Discrimination Officer to explore options and strategies (See also MSW Practicum Manual).

CAMPUS SAFETY REGULATIONS

Renison University College and the University of Waterloo work hard to promote a safe environment for students, staff, and faculty. We encourage all university community members to co-operate with one another for safety's sake. Pandemic protocols and guidelines for similar risks and threats will take effect as required.

University of Waterloo Safety and Security Tips:

- 22222 or 519-888-4911 are the EMERGENCY TELEPHONE NUMBERS at Renison University College/University of Waterloo - do not hesitate to use it if you feel you are in immediate danger.
- Campus Pay Telephones and Emergency Help Lines both have an Emergency button for emergencies. These are FREE calls.

Help Lines (look for the blue light at night) are located all over campus:

- On the walkway between Renison University College and St. Jerome's
- On the walkway to Ron Eydtt Village
- In car parking lots on campus

The University of Waterloo Security & Safety Office for emergencies and safety escort service is located at the Commissary on the main campus (519-888-4911 or 22222). This office is also the location for Lost and Found articles, although the main office at Renison University College also has a Lost and Found.

Additional suggestions while on campus:

- Please use a "buddy" system in isolated or dark areas of the campus.
- Please speak to any School of Social Work staff or faculty, or Campus Security officers, if you have concerns about your personal safety.
- Please co-operate with University security officers when a valid Renison University College/University of Waterloo ID is requested. Security carries out ID checks throughout the academic year as a proactive measure to help reduce incidents of crime.
- Remember that there is a 24-hour study area located in the Student Life Centre on campus patrolled by security officers.
- Walk or study anywhere on campus in pairs.
- Always close doors behind you. Leaving doors propped open around campus offers easy access for vandalism, theft, etc.
- Please alert SECURITY at 519-888-4911 to report a theft or if you observe any suspicious activity.
