REPORT OF THE DEAN OF ENVIRONMENT TO SENATE
March 27, 2023

FOR INFORMATION

A. APPOINTMENTS

Probationary Appointments

CARE, Rosella, Assistant Professor, School of Environment, Enterprise and Development, May 1, 2023 to June 30, 2026 [PhD (2014) CONSERVATOIRE NATIONAL DES ARTS ET MÉTIERS (CNAM), Master of Business Economics (2010) University Magna Graecia of Catanzaro, Bachelor of Business Economics (2008) University Magna Graecia of Catanzaro.] Dr. Caré is a scholar of international standing, and currently serves as Assistant Professor of Banking and Finance at the University of Cagliari (Italy). In addition, she currently holds a Marie Curie Research (Global) Fellowship. Dr. Caré's extensive background maps well onto the areas of need for the BSFM program. This, together with her very strong publication and funding record, as well as her international networks and her extensive teaching experience, combine to ensure that she will be able to make important contributions to curriculum development for the BSFM. Her social finance focus brings expertise in a critical, but currently underdeveloped area of sustainable finance. Her expertise will significantly deepen the School's capacity to supervise graduate students in the sustainable finance area, for which there are high levels of demand.

EL ALFY, Amr, Assistant Professor, School of Environment, Enterprise and Development, August 1, 2023 to June 30, 2026 [PhD (2020) University of Waterloo, MA (2015) Saint Mary's University, BComm (2005) Ain Shams University, School of Business] Dr. ElAlfy has significant professional experience and expertise in sustainability reporting and accounting, which is a key strategic area for the Bachelor of Sustainability and Financial Management (BSFM). During his one-year lecturer position at SEED, Dr. ElAlfy demonstrated a high level of teaching competency. His courses were reviewed very favorably, and he demonstrated a strong ability to develop curriculum and engage students. In addition, Dr. ElAlfy has several important research collaborations with partners in Canada and internationally and has a record of collaboration with colleagues in the School of Accounting and Finance (the BSFM partner school). He received his Ph.D. from the University of Waterloo (Sustainability Management) in 2020 and has prior degrees in international development and commerce (Accounting and Finance) from St. Mary's University and Ain Shams University (Cairo), respectively.
