Course Description

Childhood has changed as a social and cultural concept. This course will trace these changes examining sociological, psychological, cross-cultural, historical, and political factors.

Childhood is sometimes viewed as 'natural' and unchanging. An understanding of childhood through the study of history and the social sciences teaches us that it is constructed daily and differently. Class, race, gender, sexuality, religion, (dis)ability, and more, shape how children and young people experience life. This course examines past childhoods in North America, primarily Canada, from the late nineteenth century to the present as a way of gaining insight into the issues confronted by today's children and young people. We can better understand and confront issues today if we know, for example, that work, both paid and unpaid, has always been part of young people's experiences or that anxiety around 'proper' families has been commonplace over many decades. Our readings, lectures, small group activities, and assignments aim to foster a deeper understanding of childhood as a socially constructed idea. Our examination of representations of children and youth emphasizes the critical reading of news, film, artifacts, policy, and first person accounts to ask how parents, politicians, doctors, teachers, and experts, among others, determined who and what was 'normal' and 'abnormal' regarding childhood. We will juxtapose what adults said about children and youth and how children and youth experienced their own worlds.
Learning Outcomes

After completing this course, you will be able to:

- recognize how childhood is socially constructed by social institutions, ‘experts,’ the state, and more, within different social contexts;
- identify how the concepts and lives of children have changed or remained constant over time;
- identify and explain the significance of historical events for understanding childhood;
- source and interpret the meaning of primary evidence about childhood; compare and contrast past childhoods with present conceptions of childhood;
- define how historical knowledge of childhood changes our understanding of contemporary child welfare issues and initiatives,
- describe how childhood has been and continues to be shaped by gender, class, race, sexuality, religion, (dis)ability, and more;

- locate and interpret secondary sources for understanding childhoods over time; and
- name the elements of a strong research paper and demonstrate this knowledge by writing a paper on changing concepts of childhood.

I am an Associate Professor of Social Development Studies at Renison University College, University of Waterloo. I am affiliated/associated faculty with the Department of History, Department of Sociology and Legal Studies, and the Games Institute at the University of Waterloo. My primary area of expertise is the history and sociology of education, with a focus on teachers, youth, and equity.

In all my teaching, I want students to recognize systemic power inequalities, the need to question unjust ‘truths,’ and the possibility to make changes with collective action. I strive to create an educational environment on campus and online that validates students’ diverse knowledge base and makes connections between individual experience and political reality. The establishment of a community of learners is paramount to the success of any course. Students are called upon to be active participants in their own learning and in the learning community. One of my primary teaching goals is to foster positive relationships among all participants in a course.

Prior to starting at the University of Waterloo in 2009, I completed a SSHRC Post-Doctoral Fellowship (2006-2008) with the Faculty of Education at the University of Ottawa. I completed my Ph.D. in 2006 from the Department of Educational Studies at the University of British Columbia. I attained a Master of Arts in Education from the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education of the University of Toronto in 2002. Queen’s University concurrently awarded my Bachelor of Arts (Honours) and Bachelor of Education degrees in 2000.

My current research projects include a history of youth and global citizenship, assessments of restorative approaches to education, analyzes of the current state of history education, and examinations of oral history education. I am the Director of the SSHRC-funded project Digital Oral Histories for Reconciliation and a co-investigator of the SSHRC-funded project Thinking Historically for Canada’s Future. I have authored a number of books, including Democracy’s Angels: The Work of Women Teachers (MQUP, 2012), The Canadian Oral History Reader (MQUP, 2015), and Oral History, Education, and Justice: Possibilities and Limitations for Redress and Reconciliation (Routledge, 2019). I often supervise students for independent studies or research apprenticeships related to my research fields. I sometimes have the opportunity to employ undergraduate students as research assistants for my funded projects. For more on my research and recent awards for teaching, research, and service, you can view by faculty page at https://uwaterloo.ca/social-development-studies/people-profiles/kristina-llewellyn.

Your access to this course will continue for the duration of the current term. You will not have access to this course once the next term begins.
Course and Department Policies

Course Policies

Assignment Deadlines

Due dates are firm. You are responsible for informing the instructor in advance if you are unable to complete an assignment by the scheduled date. Missed due dates are only acceptable in the case of medical problems (with a medical note) and for serious compassionate reasons. Late submissions, without advance permission, will be given a 10% reduction in the total possible grade for each 24 hours after the due date. No assignments will be accepted if submitted more than one week after the deadline. In some cases, it may be necessary to complete alternate assignments for deadlines that are missed.

Difficulty with assignments is not a sufficient reason for an extension. Any student who finds himself/herself struggling with an assignment during the term is encouraged to contact your instructor as soon as possible to discuss strategies for success. It is important to begin assignments well in advance of the due date in case of problems.
University Policies

Submission Times

Please be aware that the University of Waterloo is located in the Eastern Time Zone (GMT or UTC-5 during standard time and UTC-4 during daylight saving time) and, as such, the time that your activities and/or assignments are due is based on this zone. If you are outside the Eastern Time Zone and require assistance with converting your time, please try the Ontario, Canada Time Converter (http://www.worldtimeserver.com/convert_time_in_CA-ON.aspx).

Short-Term Absences

Review the University of Waterloo’s Accommodations (http://ugradcalendar.uwaterloo.ca/page/Acad-Regs-Accommodations) policy for more details.

Additionally, undergraduate students have the option to self-declare a short-term absence during the formal lecture period by following the Undergraduate student short-term absences (https://uwaterloo.ca/registrar/current-students/undergraduate-student-short-term-absences) process outlined by the Registrar’s Office.

Please follow the instructions above and contact your instructor for applicable accommodations.

Academic Integrity

In order to maintain a culture of academic integrity, members of the University of Waterloo community are expected to promote honesty, trust, fairness, respect, and responsibility. If you have not already completed the online tutorial regarding academic integrity you should do so as soon as possible. Undergraduate students should see the Undergraduate Academic Integrity Module (https://uwaterloo.ca/library/research-supports/academic-integrity/undergraduate-academic-integrity-module) and graduate students should see the Graduate Academic Integrity Module (https://uwaterloo.ca/library/get-assignment-and-research-help/academic-integrity/graduate-students-and-academic-integrity) website.

Proper citations are part of academic integrity. Citations in CEL course materials usually follow CEL style, which is based on APA style. Your course may follow a different style. If you are uncertain which style to use for an assignment, please confirm with your instructor or TA.

For further information on academic integrity, please visit the Office of Academic Integrity (http://uwaterloo.ca/academic-integrity/).

Turnitin

Turnitin.com: Text matching software (Turnitin®) may be used to screen assignments in this course. Turnitin® is used to verify that all materials and sources in assignments are documented. Students’ submissions are stored on a U.S. server, therefore students must be given an alternative (e.g., scaffolded assignment or annotated bibliography), if they are concerned about their privacy and/or security. Students will be given due notice, in the first week of the term and/or at the time assignment details are provided, about arrangements and alternatives for the use of Turnitin® in this course.

It is the responsibility of the student to notify the instructor if they, in the first week of term or at the time assignment details are provided, wish to submit the alternate assignment.

Turnitin® at Waterloo (https://uwaterloo.ca/academic-integrity/integrity-waterloo-faculty/turnitinr-waterloo).
Discipline

A student is expected to know what constitutes academic integrity (http://uwaterloo.ca/academic-integrity/) to avoid committing an academic offence, and to take responsibility for their actions. A student who is unsure whether an action constitutes an offence, or who needs help in learning how to avoid offences (e.g., plagiarism, cheating) or about “rules” for group work/collaboration, should seek guidance from the course instructor, academic advisor, or the undergraduate Associate Dean. For information on categories of offences and types of penalties, students should refer to Policy 71 - Student Discipline (https://uwaterloo.ca/secretariat/policies-procedures-guidelines/policy-71). For typical penalties, check Guidelines for the Assessment of Penalties (https://uwaterloo.ca/secretariat/guidelines/guidelines-assessment-penalties).

Appeals

A decision made or penalty imposed under Policy 70 - Student Petitions and Grievances (https://uwaterloo.ca/secretariat/policies-procedures-guidelines/policy-70), (other than a petition) or Policy 71 - Student Discipline (https://uwaterloo.ca/secretariat/policies-procedures-guidelines/policy-71), may be appealed if there is a ground. A student who believes they have a ground for an appeal should refer to Policy 72 - Student Appeals (https://uwaterloo.ca/secretariat/policies-procedures-guidelines/policy-72).

Grievance

A student who believes that a decision affecting some aspect of their university life has been unfair or unreasonable may have grounds for initiating a grievance. Read Policy 70 - Student Petitions and Grievances (https://uwaterloo.ca/secretariat/policies-procedures-guidelines/policy-70), Section 4. When in doubt please be certain to contact the department's administrative assistant who will provide further assistance.
Final Grades

In accordance with Policy 46 - Information Management (https://uwaterloo.ca/secretariat/policies-procedures-guidelines/policies/policy-46-information-management), Appendix A - Access to and Release of Student Information, the Centre for Extended Learning does not release final examination grades or final course grades to students. Students must go to Quest (https://uwaterloo.ca/quest/) to see all final grades. Any grades posted in Waterloo LEARN are unofficial.

AccessAbility Services

AccessAbility Services (https://uwaterloo.ca/accessability-services/), located in Needles Hall, collaborates with all academic departments to arrange appropriate accommodations for students with disabilities without compromising the academic integrity of the curriculum. If you require academic accommodation to lessen the impact of your disability, please register with AccessAbility Services at the beginning of each academic term and for each course.

Accessibility Statement

The Centre for Extended Learning strives to meet the needs of all our online learners. Our ongoing efforts to become aligned with the Accessibility for Ontarians with Disabilities Act (AODA) (http://www.ontario.ca/laws/statute/05a11) are guided by University of Waterloo accessibility Legislation (https://uwaterloo.ca/human-resources/accessibility/legislation) and policy and the World Wide Web Consortium's (W3C) Web Content Accessibility Guidelines (WCAG) 2.0 (http://www.w3.org/TR/WCAG20/).
