Systems Design Conference Award

The Department of Systems Design Engineering is instituting a Conference Award to encourage and support graduate students’ participation in international scientific conferences.

To be eligible for the award you need to be:

- a SYDE graduate student in good standing
- is the designated "presenting author" for a conference paper at an international conference in your field of study

Awards will be made on an ongoing basis up to a maximum of seven awards per semester at a value of $500. To apply for an award, submit the following information:

i) As soon as available:
   - An unofficial transcript
   - A copy of the paper acceptance letter / email
   - A note from your supervisor that you will be presenting that paper at the conference

ii) Within one month of the conference date:
   - A copy of the conference registration.