Creator+ Pilot: Evaluation Information for Pilot Participants

After completing the exploration period of the Creator+ pilot, the Creator+ project team will send out an evaluation survey via email to pilot participants seeking feedback on their experience working with the Creator+ tool.

Evaluation deadline & time commitment

Pilot participants will be provided with a two-week window to complete the evaluation survey once it is sent out. The responses collected in this survey serve as a formative evaluation of Creator+ and will provide the project team with insight into the relative strengths and weaknesses of the Creator+ tool. The survey should take no more than 10 minutes to complete, and your responses will remain anonymous.

Next steps: participation in focus group sessions

Following the deadline to provide anonymous feedback on the tool, the Creator+ project team will review responses and reach out to those participants that have expressed interest in participating in the next phase of feedback collection (a focus group session). Participants selected to join the focus group sessions will be contacted directly by the Creator+ project team with a list of proposed dates to host the focus group session. Note that students participating in the Creator+ focus group sessions are eligible for payment for their time and will be compensated at a rate of $20 per hour.
