

Sessional Instructor - Job Posting

Academic Unit: Human Rights Program, St. Paul's University College at the University of Waterloo

Semester of assignment: Winter 2023

Course Number: HRTS 305/INDG 305 Indigenous Rights in Global Context

Course format: Lecture

Course description: A comparative examination of the rights challenges faced by diverse Indigenous peoples around the globe. Special attention will be given to the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples and work being done to protect and advance the rights it enshrines. (Prereq: HRTS 101 or INDG 201)

Estimated course enrolment: 12

Schedule and delivery: in-person (1h20, 2x/week or 1x3hrs)

Salary: $8822 (+4% vacation pay)

Qualifications: The successful applicant will have previous experience teaching a similar course at the university level and/or appropriate academic qualifications (at least a Masters degree).

Description of duties:

- Teaching at the undergraduate level
- Developing the syllabus
- Offering weekly office hours for academic counseling
- Preparing and delivering course material
- Preparing and delivering assignments and tests
- Marking student work and submitting grades

Application procedure:

All individuals interested in this must submit the following documentation to Dr. Anna Purkey apurkey@uwaterloo.ca

- A cover letter stating your intent to apply for the position (including contact information) and highlighting your experience with the subject matter
- An updated Curriculum Vitae listing your academic qualifications and relevant employment experience
- Names and contact information for two references.
- Any candidate that is short-listed will be required to submit a draft course outline for assessment.

Posting will remain open until the position has been filled. Course offerings are tentative, pending funding.

St. Paul's is proud to have a diverse faculty group. We welcome applications from all qualified individuals including women, Indigenous people, members of visible minorities and persons with disabilities. All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens and permanent residents will be given priority in the recruitment process.