

Thomas Calderon, Ph.D., Professor of Accounting, University of Akron. Professor Calderon teaches such courses as accounting information systems, applied analytics, enterprise risk, and auditing and has published numerous papers in accounting information systems areas. He recently led a workshop on blockchain and the audit for ISACA Northeast Ohio, was a panelist on Blockchain and professional ethics in accounting (American Accounting Association, 2021 Professional Ethics Symposium), and is the Editor of Advances in Accounting Education. Professor Calderon served as Chair of University of Akron's School of Accountancy from 2005 to 2018.