To whom it may concern,

Paragraph 1: Purpose of your letter
The introduction should give a brief overview of your case. Why are you writing this letter and what outcome are you hoping to achieve by filing a petition? Identify what rule you are seeking exception from and what the extenuating circumstances of your case are. Only include information pertinent to your case and in a brief description as you will be able to go into detail later in your letter.

Paragraph 2: The facts of your case
The second paragraph should give a detailed, chronological description of events which led to your situation. Be sure to address what happened, when, where, and who was involved. Be clear and specific. This will likely be the longest portion of your letter, try not to overwhelm the reader with unnecessary details which are not pertinent to your case.

Paragraph 3: Your petition
Now that you have explained all the events leading up to your petition, you should address why specifically you are filing a petition. This is where you may go into detail about the extenuating circumstances of your case. What impact has this situation had on you (personal, professional, academic, mental/physical health, long-term, short-term, etc.)? Why are you writing this petition and why is it important that your situation be resolved? What solution do you hope will come from this? What future consequences might this situation have on you or other students if it is not resolved?

It is also important to note what attempts you have made, if any, to resolve your problem or get help on your own (seeing a counselor, tutor, doctor, spoke with your prof, registered with AccessAbility, took a term off, etc.).

Conclusion
Finally, be sure to address any supporting documentation you have included, what it is and why it is important to your case. Reaffirm the importance of your case and its impact on your life. Be sure to thank the reader for taking the time to read through and consider the details of your case.

Sincerely,
